MAY BLAME VENDETTA FOR TWO MURDERS

BELIEVE SINISTER MOTIVE SURROUNDS MURDERS AT CANTON

May Link Slayings With Volpe Death Some Time Ago

CANTON, O., March 31.—As mystery surrounding the murder of Pelini Tiberi and Rocco Serruci, Italians, deepened today Captain of Detectives Edward Swope considered the possibility that the two men were victims of a vendetta.

"Something more sinister than a bootleg or black hand feud lies behind these murders," Swope asserted, intimating that a vendetta feud for blood vengeance obligating the nearest relative of a slain or wronged man to exact punishment from the offender although it takes generations—may have inspired the slaying.

Other detectives were inclined to link the slaying with the mysterious murder of San Volpe, Canton contractor, whose frozen body was found in Pepper Pike Village, several weeks ago.

Swope has issued warrants for the arrest of two Italians suspected of Volpe's murder. The men are in Cleveland, he said, both pursuing secretive occupations.

Ferrucci was shot as he sat in the home of Michael Lombardi, another Italian. He had been called to Lombardi's house to "receive" a telephone call. Lombardi was wounded.

Tiberi was stabbed to death by unidentified assailants. In addition to the vendetta angle, Swope was also considering the theory that Tiberi was slain because he may have been implicated in the murder of Volpe, and Ferrucci was killed because he may have had something to do with the murder of Tiberi.

One of Volpe's friends has informed police that Volpe and Ferrucci were close friends and that the two had obtained $4,000 and intended to enter the bootleg business.

PROMINENT FIGURE IN PAPERS THIRTY YEARS AGO IS FOUND

ASBURY, N. J., March 31.—Assured by Governor Moore that extradition to Binghamton, N. Y., to face forty-five year old charges of jail breaking will not be permitted, Dr. Edwin Pye Turner Osbaldeston, 83, now is busy explaining away other long forgotten stories in which his name figured.

It was with difficulty that Dr. Osbaldeston was persuaded to admit that he was the "Professor" Edwin Turner Osbaldeston who was the central character in many bizarre news incidents of from twenty to thirty years ago, but the truth finally came to the surface.

In 1893 he started New York by offering $5,000 to a volunteer for a dangerous surgical experiment. There were three applicants and the man selected later died in Central America after two surgeons had operated upon him.

The strangest story of all was told in 1903 when Dr. Osbaldeston was accused of sending threatening letters to Mrs. Louisa Weiss, a former secretary. He said Mrs. Weiss had left him with a sum of money two years ago and had fled to Germany. There, he said he had found her living with an Edward Von Well. A duel followed and the valiant doctor killed his antagonist and later another man. Because of his bravery the doctor admits modestly, he was feted by royalty and later released by direct order of Kaiser Wilhelm.

For twenty years he has led a quiet life in Asbury Park.

CABINET ACCEPTS GENEVA INVITATION

BERLIN, March 31.—The cabinet today agreed in principle, to accept the League of Nations invitation to participate in the commission which will examine the question of enlarging the league council to more representative proportions.

The invitation grew out of the failure this month to admit Germany to league membership because of a dispute over council seats.

IS ELECTROCUTED

DAYTON, O., March 31.—A man identified early this morning as Leslie Dunkle, 39, of 1149 1/2 W. Third St., was electrocuted last night when he accidentally fell from a thirty-foot pole onto a 5,500-volt wire, the property of the Dayton Power and Light Co., three miles south of Dayton on the River Road.

Champion Ford Old Fiddler Comes Out of Tennessee Hills

"Uncle Bunt" Stephens of Tullahoma, Tenn., winner in old fiddler contest sponsored by Henry Ford, is preparing to tour the country. He is seen in New York with his wife, "Aunt Lizzie," and his fiddle which he bought 35 years ago for $25. It bears 1699 date and may be an "old master."

CINCINNATI BUSINESS MAN SEEKS NOMINATION FOR OHIO GOVERNOR

Myers Y. Cooper Makes Seventh To File for Office
—Is President of Ohio Council Of Churches

COLUMBUS, O., March 31.—The number of avowed candidates for the Republican nomination for governor stood at seven today, with the entry of Myers Y. Cooper, wealthy Cincinnati business man.

Cooper, in declaring his candidacy, said representatives of business, labor and farmers have assured him of their support.

He pledges a "sound business administration based on constructive efficiency and wise economy," if nominated and elected.

Other candidates who have filed or announced to date include: Lieut. Gov. Charles H. Lewis, Harpster; Secretary of State Thad Brown, Columbus; State Treasurer Harry C. Day; Representative Ross Buchanan, Carrollton; Evelyn F. Snow, Mt. Vernon and Ross Beaman, Napoleon.

Cooper is president of the Ohio

Council of Churches and also president of the Ohio Fair Managers. He is prominent as a realtor and home builder.

Although he has played a prominent part in republican politics, Cooper has never before been a candidate for elective office.

ANNOUNCE EXAMS FOR SCHOLARSHIPS

COLUMBUS, March 31.—Examinations for the twenty scholarships in the college of agriculture of Ohio State University, made available by the board of trustees, will be held April 2, Vernon M. Riegel, state director of education has announced today.

Pupils in the senior classes of first or second grade high schools are eligible to take the examination. The state has been divided into four sections and five scholarships will be awarded to each.

EXPECT FINAL VOTE ON IMPEACHMENT

WASHINGTON, March 31.—A final vote in the house on impeachment of federal Judge George W. English of the eastern district of Illinois is expected today.

The lower body met at eleven o'clock, an hour earlier than usual, leaders expecting to press for a vote before adjournment, so the way may be cleared for a recess from tomorrow night until Monday.

Although opponents of impeachment of English gained a few adherents yesterday, those behind the move were confident the house would accept the recommendation of the judiciary committee.

DECLINE IN MARKET IS PUZZLING WALL STREET

Selling Wave Mystifying Because No Excitement
Accompanies It—Railroad Stocks
Prove Weak

NEW YORK, March 31.—With practically half the stocks listed on the stock exchange at new low prices for the year, Wall Street today was frankly mystified at the persistent wave of selling which has attained the magnitude of a deluge.

The market is accustomed to declines but seldom has it seen one of the present importance, and completeness so devoid of excitement.

Even yesterday when the total of shares traded in exceeded the 3,000,000 mark and the volume of transactions became the third largest in the history of the exchange there was no frenzy.

The situation is aggravated by margin calls. During the night, they were exceptionally heavy. Of most importance to seasoned speculators is the weakness displayed by the railroad stocks. Usually these issues are slow movers, but for the time being, they lost all traces of sluggishness and slumped downward under an avalanche of selling.

Such well known stocks in the investment or semi-investment class as New York Central, C. & O. and Delaware and Hudson were leaders of the reaction.

Since March 3, there have been "four big breaks" and each time the quotations have gone lower.

DEPUTIES NAMED TO LIQUIDATE AFFAIRS OF INSURANCE FIRM

Some Agents Are Insuring
Clients At Own Expense

COLUMBUS, March 31.—Affairs of the Great American Mutual Indemnity Company of Mansfield, recently taken over by the state insurance division, will be liquidated by Special Deputies Holland M. Edwards, Columbus attorney and Fred E. Guthrie, Marion attorney, it was announced today.

The work of liquidation and auditing of the company's books, will be directed from the concern's main offices in Mansfield, Harry L. Cann, state superintendent of insurance, said.

Several former agents of the company according to reports today are reinsuring at their own expense policy holders who stand to lose in event the company is dissolved. The state insurance department recently was authorized to take over and operate the company. The order was handed down by the common pleas court here after Conn charged company officers with making false financial statements.

WOMEN IN THE DAY'S NEWS

ROME.—When is an old maid? An Italian society formed to provide a home for such "unfortunates" place the age of old maids at eight years.

NEW YORK.—Working women in Utica prefer a forty-eight hour week even if it would mean decreased earnings, according to the results of a questionnaire submitted by the women's legislative conference.

BELFAST, Ireland.—Shingled locks have invaded the Ulster parliament. Mrs. Debra Chichester, only child of a former Chicagoan, the late James Kerfisher, drew many cheers when she first removed her hat in the house and displayed the bobbed hair.

SUBMIT REPORT

WASHINGTON, March 31.—The United States tariff commission accepted today to the subpoena of the senate tariff investigating committee and submitted the sugar schedule report which has been held secret by President Coolidge since it was made last June. The report was not immediately made public.

PARTY COALITION IN CONGRESS ENDS

WASHINGTON, March 31.—The coalition of Republicans and Democrats which has dominated this session of congress broke into pieces today and it was believed the split would mean indefinite postponement of the $2,045,000,000 Italian debt settlement.

A bill conducted by a senator favoring the settlement indicated the opposition has a fundamental strength of forty-five votes to refer the matter to the finance committee—a side-track in which it would stand at least until the next session of congress.

Although no official communications from authorities of the Ku Klux Klan have yet been placed in the record, both sides admit that the Klan opposition to the settlement has had its effect.

CHARLEY CHAPLIN IS FATHER AGAIN

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., March 31.—"We had expected a girl but we are tremendously happy," said 17-year-old Lita Grey Chaplin, who yesterday presented her husband, Charlie, with his second son.

Charles Spencer Chaplin equalled some happiness records himself. He refused to leave his wife and his seven pound boy to talk with a score of newspaper men, who called after the event yesterday.

Charlie Jr., born last June, already has seen his brother, but had no comment.

The latest arrival in the Chaplin home has not been named.

CITY WINS SUIT TO GET ASSESSMENT

COLUMBUS, O., March 31.—The City of Findlay won in the supreme court today when a decision affirming the lower court was handed down in a suit brought by H. W. Butler, of that city.

Butler instituted a suit in common pleas court to restrain the city from collecting a special assessment on his property, claiming the city was without power to raise money, except by assessing the city as a whole, rather than "according to benefits."

Fight Begins to Send Durkin, "Sheik Bandit" to Gallows

State's attorneys in Chicago declare they are ready to wage a fight to send Martin Durkin, two-gun "sheik bandit" to the gallows for the murder of two police officers. The trial opens April 5. Durkin says he committed the crimes in "self-defense." Photos show Durkin and two women who will figure prominently in the trial, (left) Betty Werner, the woman he desired to marry (right) Irma Sullivan. He was trapped on his honeymoon.

TOLEDO BANDIT QUIZZED ABOUT MURDER OF FRANKLIN OFFICER

Attempt To Connect Man Who Shot Marshal With
Slaying of Watchman at Franklin Store
—Confess Shooting

BELLEVILLE, O., March 31.—Ervin Courtney, Toledo bandit arrested at West Mansfield after his companion, Jack Stringer, an alleged gunman, shot and wounded Marshal Fay Middeworth, was questioned today in connection with the killing of J. A. Bengt, a night patrolman at Franklin, Ohio. Courtney, according to police, has signed a written confession accusing Stringer of shooting Middeworth who surprised the two shortly after they dynamited a safe in a West Mansfield store. Middeworth was wounded during the ensuing running gun battle.

Police said they were convinced either Courtney or Stringer have knowledge of the slaying of Bengt, who was shot while attempting to frustrate a robbery.

MINERS WITHDRAW FROM PAISLEY MINE

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., March 31.—Twelve hundred miners today withdrew their tools from the James A. Paisley mines of this district and the company closed the mines indefinitely.

The shut-down was the result of the company's statement that it could not meet the provisions of the Jacksonville wage scale and sell the coal profitably.

Van A. Bittner, representative of the United Mine Workers of America, refused to comment on the situation today.

He said he had been "out of touch" with the district while conferring with John L. Lewis at Indianapolis.

WOMAN SHOTS MAN

GALLIPOLIS, O., March 31.—Ott Niebert, Gallipolis, was fighting for his life in a local hospital today with bullet wounds in his abdomen, while Mrs. Ida May Hall, was under arrest charged with shooting to kill.

The following dealers have contributed to the Cooking School: Ervin Milling Co., Galloway & Cherry, Eichman and Miller, Anderson Grocery, Smith Bakery, The Five and Ten Cent Store, The Dairy Products Co., J. Schardt and Son, Kaiser Laundry, Calumet Baking Powder, Jell-O, Frigidaire, A. Thornhill and Son, the Xenia Meat Market, the B. and S. Liberty Market, Court House Barber Shop.

Members of Lewis Corps, No. 29, W. R. C., including Mrs. Owen Tiffany, Mrs. Henry Norckauer, Mrs. W. P. McKay, Mrs. Earl Short, Mrs. Shriber and Mrs. Joseph King acted as hostesses Wednesday afternoon. The Misses Mary and Margaret McDonnell gave a piano and violin duet.

Friday afternoon, the last day of the school, will be featured by the

SEVEN KILLED WHEN SNOW STORM BLINDS AUTOSITS; 20 HURT

Storm To Continue 24
Hours—No Relief
Near

CHICAGO, March 31.—The midwest today continued in the grip of an unseasonable blizzard which already has resulted in seven lives lost and a score of accidents.

Three persons were killed in Chicago in accidents while four were killed in Wisconsin, owing to the blinding snow, which prevented clear vision.

The entire midwestern region from the mountains to Ohio and from the lakes south, today was blanketed high with snow and there will be no relief for the next twenty-four hours, the weather bureau reported.

Snow fall during the past twenty-four hours ranged between four and seven inches.

The United States weather bureau here reported snow accompanied by high winds would continue for the next twenty-four hours.

Trains running out of the city were delayed by the snow which here has reached five and half inches. Three persons killed here directly by the storm were in car accidents. This was in addition to a crash between two "L" trains last night in which a score of passengers injured but none seriously. Wisconsin and Minnesota also reported heavy snowfalls.

WOMAN GETS LARGE ALIENATION DAMAGE

COLUMBUS, O., March 31.—Under a ruling of the state supreme court today, Louise G. Oskamp, of Cincinnati, will receive damages of $100,000 from relatives of Herbert Oskamp, her husband, for alienation of the man's affections.

In announcing its decision, the court affirmed the court of appeals of Hamilton county which granted Mrs. Oskamp $100,000.

Mrs. Oskamp originally asked for $150,000, naming W. S. Oskamp, her husband's father, Gordon Oskamp, his brother, Adele Work Oskamp, his mother, and Mrs. Adele Oskamp Ryan, sister, defendants.

Mrs. Oskamp was awarded $100,000 by the common pleas court, and this was affirmed by the appeals tribunal.

FIVE ARE BELIEVED LOST IN LAKE BOAT

DETROIT, Mich., March 31.—Canadian and American shores of Lake St. Clair were searched today for trace of five unidentified persons who are believed to have lost their lives when a small motor boat capsized near the Detroit Waterworks.

Capsize of the frail craft and subsequent disappearance of the five occupants was witnessed by three persons standing on the American shore.

Today the scene of the disappearance is a swirling ice-field and officials expressed the belief that occupants of the boat did not survive.

PEOPLE ESCAPE AS BUILDINGS BURNED

SALINEVILLE, O., March 31.—Several persons narrowly escaped death or injury today when fire destroyed five buildings, including two homes, in the business section here.

The blaze originated in a building owned by Harold Baker and quickly spread to adjoining structures, including the Thomas O'Brien property, two vacant buildings and the F. Solder home.

Members of the Solder family, awakened by a passerby, escaped to the street just as the roof of their home collapsed.

The blaze was discovered by a miner who sounded the alarm. Cause of the fire has not been determined. No estimate of the loss entailed has been made.

KILLS WOMAN AND COMMITTS SUICIDE

DAYTON, O., March 31.—Acy Dobbins, 69, colored, 326 Dakota St., fatally wounded Mrs. Elizabeth Buckner, 46, colored, 1352 W. Second St., and then took his own life in a running gun battle with Patrolman W. F. Schrader yesterday afternoon.

HANGS IN JAIL
COLUMBUS, O., March 31.—Rather than face imprisonment in the state penitentiary Paul Drumm, 32, while held at the city prison on an assault and battery charge, hanged himself with his belt during the night.

DO YOU Know These MEN?

They Are The Expert Engineers Who Are In Charge Of Our Ice Making Machinery

They are the kind of men required to keep a refrigeration plant running successfully. The complicated, delicately adjusted machinery necessary to assure complete refrigeration cannot be trusted to inexperienced hands without sooner or later bringing the plant to grief. In our plant where ice is manufactured scientifically, engineers who are masters in their line are constantly busy keeping every part in perfect running order. EVEN THEN BREAK-DOWNS DO OCCUR and that means calling in still other experts to repair the damage to the machinery. Ice cannot be manufactured without the use of costly and complicated machinery and a plant of whatever size, cannot be maintained in good order without the care of experienced engineers. Unless it is expertly cared for, the first cost of installing a refrigeration plant is the smallest item. We are able to furnish ice at the present low cost only because our perfectly equipped plant is cared for by skilled engineers who reduce the cost of upkeep to the minimum.

No Investment Is Required

You are not required to make an outlay of hundreds of dollars in order to have the advantage of modern refrigeration in your home. All you need is a refrigerator and an ice card. Our workmen attend to the care of machinery, the distilling and purifying of the water and the placing of the ice in your chest. You have no investment and no risk.

There is no danger that the failure of some part of the machinery to function properly will create a high explosive that may wreck your home. They are the men, who, unseen to you, lutely free from germs. On scorching summer days you may delight in its musical tinkle in refreshing beverages, you may serve it about your food or you may let it melt into drinking water that is purity itself. During the warm months the modern home requires an abundance of perfectly pure ice in a form convenient for immediate use. This is the service these men on this page render in your home. They are the men, who, unsten to you, provide you with a health-giving luxury that kings and queens of past ages would have envied. Take a piece of ice from our plant—note its perfect clearness—not a cloud, not a single streak to proclaim the presence of some unhealthful element. It is doubly distilled and purified again and again until not a trace of impurity remains—simply shining clearness—the acme of purity.

When Better Methods Are Perfected We Will Have Them

If the time comes when the same degree of purity and perfection in ice making can be achieved by less complicated methods than those now in use we will not only have them for ourselves but will do our utmost to have them installed in every home. At the present time no other method offers the same degree of purity, convenience or economy as the distribution of ice from the ice plant. The interest alone on the amount of money required for an investment in home refrigeration will supply the average family with ice for a year—and this is exclusive of the cost of upkeep, the care of the plant and other expense items. Instead of trying to serve yourself at great expense and by unfamiliar methods let your good friends on this page continue to do your work for you at less cost than you can do it yourself.

MR. AND MRS. S. B. LESOURE

CELEBRATE GOLDEN WEDDING
Commemorating the service which made them man and wife fifty years ago, Mr. and Mrs. S. B. LeSoure celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at their home on E. Second St., Tuesday evening, surrounded by their intimate friends and relatives.

Fifty-four guests were received at the LeSoure home, including friends of many years and business associates of Mr. LeSoure, who is president of the S. B. LeSoure and Co. insurance agency and secretary of The Home Building and Savings Co.

Guests were received by Mr. and Mrs. LeSoure, who fully shared in the import of the interesting occasion. Mrs. LeSoure wore a gown of grey georgette with a corsage of yellow rose buds, gift of Mr. LeSoure, which blended in color with baskets of snapdragons used in the reception hall.

A golden tone predominated in the decorations for the occasion, masses of roses and snapdragons, of yellow, roses and greenery, flanked with tall yellow tapers in silver holders. The buffet was centered with a yellow basket of yellow rose buds, the handle of which was tied with a bow of gold tissue.

After the reception, guests were seated at quartet tables, arranged throughout the rooms. Each table was centered with a single yellow rose bud in a crystal vase. Among the guests were six friends of Mr. and Mrs. LeSoure who attended their marriage a half century ago.

They were seated with Mr. and Mrs. LeSoure at the bride's table in the dining room. This handsomely appointed table was centered with a mass of yellow roses and greenery, flanked with tall yellow tapers in silver holders. The buffet was centered with a yellow basket of yellow rose buds, the handle of which was tied with a bow of gold tissue.

Members of Mr. and Mrs. LeSoure's family assisted in receiving the guests. Members of the immediate LeSoure family are their three children, Mr. Harry S. LeSoure, of the Home Building and Savings Co., Mrs. S. M. McKay, W. Church St., and Mrs. Frank Dubois, Warren, Pa., and their six grandchildren, Mr. William LeSoure, Mr. Richard LeSoure, Miss Helen LeSoure, the Misses Eleanor and Margaret McKay and Master John Dubois.

Mr. and Mrs. LeSoure's marriage took place fifty years ago at the Jacoby homestead, at Goes Station where Miss Ida May Stewart plighted her troth to Mr. LeSoure. After their marriage, Mr. and Mrs. LeSoure resided at Bethany, O., for two and one-half years, moving from there to Xenia where they have resided since.

Mr. LeSoure is one of the best known business men in the vicinity, being in business forty-eight years. He started in the insurance business in Xenia at that time and later formed a partnership with the late Frank B. McGervey, the firm being then known as McGervey and LeSoure. After Mr. McGervey's death the firm became known as S. B. LeSoure and Co. The business is incorporated with the Home Building and Savings Co., of which Mr. LeSoure has been secretary since the death of Mr. McGervey on 1902. The Home Building and Savings Co., was organized in 1894.

Mr. and Mrs. LeSoure were presented with a radio by members of their family and Mrs. Laura Alexander for the occasion.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding anniversary celebration were Mr. J. P. LeSoure, Mr. LeSoure's brother, and Mrs. Rhoda Stayback, of Hamilton, O., Mr. and Mrs. Frank Williamson, Monroe, O., Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Corry, Miss Mabel Stewart, Miss Jessie Stewart and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stewart, all of Springfield, O., Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dubois, Warren, Pa.

CONSTANT WAVING
AND CURLING
RUINS HAIR

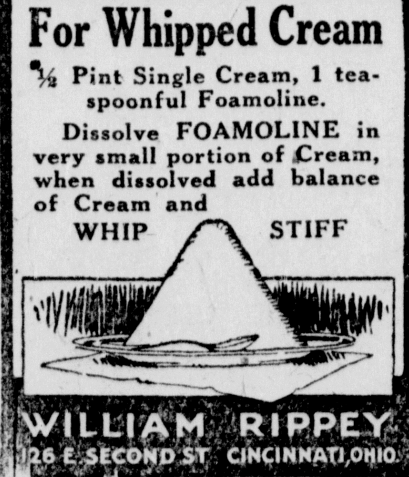

Girls just must curl and wave bobbed hair to appear their prettiest. But constant curling and waving burn and dry the hair, vitality and very life from the hair.

To offset these bad effects, just get a 35-cent bottle of delightful, refreshing "Danderine" at any drug store or toilet counter and just see for yourself how quickly it revives dry, brittle, lifeless and fading hair.

"Danderine" is a dependable tonic and will do wonders for any girl's hair. It nourishes, stimulates and strengthens each single hair, bringing back that youthful gleam, glint and vigorous luxuriance. Falling hair stops and dandruff disappears. "Danderine" is pleasant and easy to use.

The Theatre

"The play is not the thing; the presentation is," says Gilbert Seldes, in "The Theater," commenting on the elaborate program that has been built up around motion pictures in cities and which has invaded even the small cities, such as Xenia.

"A few years ago you could manage to see a picture, two or three weeks after its issue, in a neighborhood lounge where the only unit apart from the pictures was the wheezing of a small organ inviting people to get out," says Mr. Seldes.

But now people in cities particularly, go to see big feature pictures because of their accompaniment and the features that have been arranged to add to their attraction. "From the beginning the moving picture had accompaniment; it had music as soon as it outgrew the peep-show stage, it was in the early days part of a vaudeville entertainment," is what Mr. Seldes has to say. He advises picture patrons to go to the theater nowadays and TRY to find the picture.

Theaters today "play up" their attractions aside from the picture, and you are furnished with a complete concert before the real program of the theater begins. Then the makers of the picture proceed to write you a book about the variety.

Mr. Paul Spahr, who is employed in Columbus, spent Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday with relatives and friends in Xenia. He returned to Columbus Wednesday evening.

Mr. Albert Swindler, near Bridgeport, is recovering from a severe attack of grip. His infant son has been ill with pneumonia, following grip, but is improving.

Mr. Oris Snyder, Birch Road, is seriously ill with pneumonia, following an attack of grip. He has been severely ill since Sunday.

Miss Rosezella Harner and Mr. Harold Harner will entertain McClellan Y. P. B. at their home on the Upper Bellbrook Pike, Friday evening, April 2. Members are urged to attend, girl members to bring fruit salad.

Mrs. Jane Bell, who is employed in offices of Drs. A. C. and H. C. Messenger, has been ill for several days with a severe attack of suns.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cory and Mr. Clark Cork, Frankfort, O., spent Wednesday with Dr. W. A. Galloway, at his home on W. Main St.

Mr. William Miller, will arrive home Wednesday evening from Miami University, Oxford, to spend the Spring vacation with his parents, Attorney and Mrs. W. L. Miller.

Mr. Thomas Conklyn, student at Miami University, accompanied by a classmate, Mr. Philip Jacques, will arrive home Wednesday evening to visit Mr. Conklyn's parents, near Xenia, over Easter.

THE PUZZLE GROWS

E. T. MEREDITH, former secretary of agriculture and for many years a publisher of farm journals, has given the latest opinion about what to do to relieve the farm situation. If any one speaks with authority, Mr. Meredith should do so. Yet his statement of what is necessary to be done seems chiefly to show the difficulties of the problem.

Mr. Meredith agrees with opinion previously expressed that the trouble on the American farm has to do with the surplus. Instead of proposing some way to market the surplus, however, he suggests that a way be found to avoid a surplus.

This apparently leads to the question that has been uppermost since the beginning of the farm discussion: How can the thing be done?

Those who have proposed a nation-wide organization of co-operative marketing have had this phase of the problem in mind. Difficult as their program was, because of its size, it apparently was the only answer, if there is an answer, to the question presented.

The millions of farmers are not like the relatively few hundred of manufacturers in any one line. They are not like the organized workers—neither in numbers nor in character or location of job, not in temperament. Some way might be found to reach the farmers of Michigan and persuade them that next year is a poor year to "go in" strong for corn. The news might not reach the farmers of Iowa or Missouri or Illinois—or, if it did, it might not influence them. Kansas might, by extraordinary extension of co-operation under present conditions, decide to slow up on wheat at planting time this fall. The same idea might not appeal to the Dakotas next spring at their planting time—particularly if, in the meantime, an attractive market had been created.

Geographically, the farm problem is as broad and as wide as this vast country, and every one of the millions of farmer units in it is an individualist. Exactly the same obstacle has presented itself to the plans for government marketing of surplus, in a program of guaranteeing a profitable price for crops. Who can tell what the surplus would be, or how much it might grow as soon as a profitable return was under-written?

The fundamental demand at Washington has not been that something be done for the farmer, but the demand to know what can be done, that will work.

A DIRECT STATEMENT

GREAT significance is attached to the fact that the declaration "it pays to advertise!" is universally used, while the interrogation, "Does it pay to advertise?" or its equivalent is unheard of.

That advertising does pay is so apparent no one today asks proof of the fact, but if substantiation were required it could be found in the 1925 volume of newspaper advertising. Business in the United States spends billions for advertising every year, investing the greater portion of that sum in newspaper advertising space. National advertisers alone spent $215,000,000 for newspaper advertising last year, exceeding the record established in 1923 when this single item of advertising reached $205,000,000.

These advertisers are not philanthropists. They do not give such vast sums to the newspapers of the country year after year and charge it to charity. That they are getting the desired return from every dollar thus spent is evident from the fact that they are spending more each year for this purpose.

Who pays for this advertising? The merchants and manufacturers who do not advertise. This huge advertising bill is paid for by the advertisers from the loss of business and profits sustained by the non-advertisers.

Through this newspaper advertising the national or local advertiser reaches from one to ten persons in every household. The newspaper ad is the great show window and show case of the national merchant and is an indispensable auxiliary facility for the local merchant.

SOME DEFINITIONS

ANYONE can go to the dictionary for definitions, but in no dictionary will be found quite so good a definition of "gossip" as that given by a child who on being asked what the word meant, said, "it's when nobody don't do nothing and somebody goes and tells about it."

Amid a collection of droll or witty definitions accumulated from time to time through newspaper reading, the following seem worthy of repetition: "Dandy"—"a football for men and a pincushion for women." "Snoring"—"Sleeping out loud." "Bachelor"—"a man who has lost the opportunity of making some woman miserable." "Tyrant"—"one who kills worms lest they turn."

"Nothing"—"a bunghole without a barrel around it." "Truth"—"the only thing that can't be improved upon." "Police interest"—"listening to things you know all about, told by one who knows nothing about them." "Cannibal"—"one who loves his fellowmen." "Caution"—"the dark lantern of enterprise." "Smiles"—"laughter's photographs."

FRIEND TO THE LIVING

I'd rather say "how good you are" than "good he used to be."

I'd rather pin a rose upon your coat for all to see

Than send a wreath of roses with a card of sympathy

I'd rather share your burden now and walk a mile with you

Than come upon a solemn day and come upon a solemn day

Than your Airless to you

And ask in faltering voice if there is something I can do. I'd rather prove my friendship to my friend the while he lives.

Than be the one who rushes round when death has called and gives

His proof of true devotion to his dead friend's relatives

Of course if you should cross the stream before I'm called to go.

I shall be one who'll mourn for you.

For I shall miss you so.

But that I am your friend

Is what I'd like to say filling only slightly before putting it into the pie.

To Bake a Pie with a Pre-Cooked Filling: Of course the quicker pastry is cooked (that is at a temperature) the more tender and flaky it will be. For this reason it is well to use a previously cooked filling (or partially cooked filling) when possible so that the pie may be baked in fifteen minutes. This Currant-Raisin Pie should be put into a very hot oven (550 degrees F.) and baked at this same temperature fifteen minutes. (A meringue pie shell may be made from the pastry trimmings left over in this recipe).

A NOURISHING PIE

"Please tell us how to make your favorite pie, whatever it may be," writes a bride Reader Friend. Here it is:

Currant-Raisin Pie: I always make this with a pie crust, which contains no butter, as follows:

Pastry without Butter: Put one and one-half cups of pastry flour into a bowl and stir in one-half teaspoon of salt and one-half teaspoon of baking powder. With two knives, held like a pair of scissors, cut in one-half cup of pure leaf lard. Then wet with three-quarters of a cup of cold water and toss on a floured bread board. Roll out to one-fourth inch in thickness, dot with one-half cup of additional leaf lard, and fold in from both sides to form a long roll. Double one-half of this roll over the other half, and cut in two.

Roll one portion for the under crust. Stick it all over with a fork, after putting it in the ungreased pie pan, but do not trim edges yet. Then roll out the other half of the pastry into as nearly circular shape as possible.

Roll one portion for the under crust. Stick it all over with a fork, after putting it in the ungreased pie pan, but do not trim edges yet. Then roll out the other half of the pastry into as nearly circular shape as possible.

CHAMPION FIRE DEPARTMENT.

In the days before the Civil War Cedarville boasted a volunteer fire department that was the pride of the village.

Formerly state contests were held among fire companies, competitive contests of all kind calculated to exhibit the speed and accuracy with which they could handle their apparatus.

It was largely because of desire to compete in such contests that practically every village of any size in the state organized volunteer fire companies in the '50s. Many members wore gaudy uniforms, more ornamental than useful.

With James Bogle as captain and A. S. Frazer as chief nozzle-man, Cedarville took the field with one of these companies in 1852. It trained with all the enthusiasm of a modern football team and captured prizes everywhere over the state.

It first purchased a second-hand engine, a hand affair, and a hose reel. With this meager outfit it prepared to meet all comers in the state.

First public appearance was made in a contest at Springfield, O., July 4, 1854. In those days water was thrown by "human" power. Power was derived from men wielding the handle of their small engine. Local company outdistanced all competitors by at least fifteen feet in the first rush.

Record of its maiden effort was not preserved, but the Cedarville company later won first prize, a silver trumpet, with a spurt of 240 feet, in a contest at Zanesville.

Victories followed in quick succession at Sandusky, Tiffin and Dayton and in each instance a silver trumpet was won for the best showing.

No record was kept of the total winnings and all evidences of the prowess of the company were destroyed when the Cedarville Opera House burned in 1857.

Among the "fire laddies" who were members of this famous company were the Kyles, Turners, Jacksons, James Bogle, A. S. Frazer, Edward Vanhorn and a number of others.

MISS PHYLIS JONES ATTAINS UNUSUAL RECORD AS ATHLETE

Miss Phylis Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Jones, Jamestown, senior at Ross Twp. High School, is rated as the outstanding and most remarkable girl basketball player in the history of Greene County court circles.

The Ross High girl has played through four straight seasons as a member of the sextet, never missing a game, or a minute of play, never removed for a substitute and never injured. Besides this remarkable accomplishment, Miss Jones has been elected on the all-county high school tournament teams at Antioch, College for four straight years.

This record has never been equalled by any boy or girl athlete in Greene County high schools, it is said.

Miss Jones began playing a forward position in her freshman year, holding down this position for the past four years. Her sister, Rachel Jones is also a noted Ross basketball star.

Not does the girl wonder confine her efforts to the basketball court. She also excels in studies and has ranked first in scholastic work for four years, being valedictorian of her class this year.

Miss Jones is interested in physical education and intends to follow up this branch of endeavor after graduating from college.

Coach Earl E. Prugh, athletic director at Antioch College, Yellow Springs, regards her record as the most unusual in his experience.

RESERVES BACKING BENEFIT MOVIE TO IMPROVE DIAMOND

Benefit moving picture show for the Xenia Reserves Baseball Club, to finance putting Washington Park in shape for the coming season, conditioning the diamond and providing covers for the stands, will be given at the Orpheum Theater, Monday and Tuesday evenings, April 19 and 20, it is announced.

Feature picture will be Tom Mix, the screen favorite of Western picture lovers, in "My Own Pal." Mix has a wide following in Xenia and the picture should prove an attraction.

Ticket sale will be opened immediately and tickets may be obtained at the Sutton Music Store, Dawson Meat Market, the Henny confectionery and the Power Plus oil stations. Admission will be twenty-five cents.

The club plans to do extensive remodeling work at the park. The diamond will be rolled and placed in first class condition and it is also proposed to erect coverings for the bleacher seats to shelter fans from vagaries of summer weather. This improvement will meet with unanimous approval of local baseball enthusiasts.

"HAIR-GROOM"

Keeps Hair Combed, Glossy Well-Groomed all Day

"Hair-Groom" is a patented combing cream which costs only a few cents a jar at any drugstore. Millions use it because it gives that natural gloss and well-groomed effect to the hair—that final touch to good dress both in business and on social occasions. Even stubborn unruly or shampooed hair stays combed all day in any style you like. "Hair-Groom" is greaseless; also helps grow thick, heavy, lustrous hair.—Adv.

PASTOR CONDUCTS SERVICES OF HOLY WEEK ON TUESDAY

Passion week services were held at the First Methodist Church Tuesday night, conducted by Dr. F. W. Stanton, pastor. He spoke on "Jesus in Service," using as his text, Matt. 25:40.

He said in part: "In several parables and discourses Jesus taught on Tuesday of Holy Week the great central idea of Service. In the parable of the withered fig tree He taught the ultimate disaster of fruitlessness. In the story of the wicked husbandman and the vineyard He taught that work for self alone is harmful. In the parable of the wedding of the king's son He set forth the truth that when we work by other methods than God's our work is futile. 'The striking parable of the ten virgins and the talents taught that service is the key to life's success. In the discourse on the judgment of the nations, when the sheep and the goats are separated the divine Teacher set forth the great truth that service to God can be rendered only by service to our fellowmen. He did not condemn those on the left for what they had done, but for what they omitted to do.'

Banquet was served by Al Zeiner, Jamestown, with music furnished by the Jamestown High School orchestra.

BOWLING

"Bill" Horner shoved his way to the top of the heap among Class A bowlers in the city individual bowling tournament by virtue of taking three straight games from White Tuesday night. Horner upset a total of 629 maples to accomplish this feat, rolling single scores of 226, 188 and 215. White also bowled good ten pins.

Pesavento rolled well to win the odd game in three from Bales in a Class B match. Barnett won two from Hisey and W. C. Horner took two in three from Moorehead in the Class C series.

Class A results:
White.....183 165 203
B. Horner.....226 188 215
Class B results:

XENIA PHYSICIAN IS ON COMMITTEE

Dr. H. C. Messenger, local physician, has been notified that he has been appointed a member of the State Child Welfare Committee of the Ohio "Forty and Eight." The appointment was made by Harry M. Shafer, Grande Chef de Gare of that organization.

Dr. Messenger served as captain in the World War and is a former commander of Joseph P. Foody Post, American Legion. He is also former Chef de Gare of the local "Forty and Eight" Society.

EVANGELIST GIVES WEDNESDAY SUBJECT

"The First Century Smart Alex" will be the Wednesday evening subject of the Rev. Ray G. Upson, at the revival services at United Brethren Church, Thursday evening. He will give a song in pantomime with the assistance of seven young women.

Prayer meetings announced for Thursday are as follows: Mrs. Sidney Mutterspaw, 210 N. Miami Ave.; Mrs. Charles Grandin, leader; Mrs. Bert Lemons, 27 Cincinnati Ave.; Mrs. Ora Harness, leader; Mrs. Thomas Cunningham, 329 Washington St.; Mrs. C. S. Mock, leader.

Joint meeting of all these groups will be held in the chapel Friday at 10 a. m., with a special program by the juniors in the evening.

JUDGE GOWDY WILL SEEK SECOND TERM

Common Pleas Judge R. L. Gowdy definitely announced his intention of becoming a candidate for a second term this year, upon his return from Cleveland, where he has been serving on the Cuyahoga County bench several weeks.

Judge Gowdy's first term of six years expired this year. Although it is not required, the judge expects to file his candidacy for the August primary, following his custom six years ago, to receive party endorsement. The jurist will probably be unopposed for re-election as no other candidates for the office loom at present.

CLIFTON MINISTER SPEAKS AT CHURCH SERVICES TUESDAY

The Rev. William Wilson, Clifton, O. former evangelist, preached at Presbyterian Church, Tuesday evening, basing his remarks on Psalm 49:8 "The Redemption of the Soul is Precious." The speaker stressed two thoughts: first, the actual value of a human soul, namely, origin, capacities, the seat of true happiness and its eternal duration or distance; second, the actual cost of the redemption of a human soul—Christ the redeemer paid a great price for the redemption of a soul.

The evangelist showed by references to scripture the unusual price of salvation in Christ Jesus. He closed with several illustrations depicting soul redemption and the happiness to individuals. Miss Zella Soward sang a solo "Hear Ye, O Israel." Third service of the week will present Marvin Williams, student for the ministry and member of the local church. A duet will be given by Miss Ruth Alexander and Mrs. Earl Short. Good crowds have greeted the speakers each evening and two members were received into the church Tuesday evening.

COURT OF APPEALS STILL IN SESSION

Because of the unusually heavy docket, the Court of Appeals for the second appellate district continued in extra session in Common Pleas Court Wednesday.

Thirteen cases carried upon error confronted the appellate court judges Tuesday and hearing of evidence could not be concluded in one day. The twelfth case was being heard late Wednesday morning. Work was cleared up on the afternoon.

No decisions are expected to be announced at least several weeks.

SCHOOL PUPILS ARE INVITED TO WRITE ESSAYS FOR CONTEST

Pupils in Xenia schools may participate in the Ohio School Children's Essay Contest as arranged by the Sesqui-Centennial Commission of Ohio in connection with Ohio's participation in the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition at Philadelphia, Pa., this year, it is announced.

An information pamphlet regarding the contest, rules, prizes and judging has been received by Superintendent Harper C. Hendry, Director of the Sesqui-Centennial Commission of Ohio has mailed similar pamphlets to the head of each local school district to be given each teacher in order that they may be familiar with rules and regulations of the contest.

According to the rules of the contest, the boy or girl in each county of the state attending an elementary grade up to and including the eighth grade, who writes the best essay on the subject, "What the Declaration of Independence Means to Me," will be given a free trip to the exposition at Philadelphia at the expense of the state during July or August.

Similar prize will be awarded to the boy or girl attending the four high school grades, who writes the best essay on the subject, "How has the Declaration of Independence Influenced the World."

Essays of elementary grade pupils are restricted to not more than 600 words and upper class students to a maximum of 1,000 words.

In city and exempted village districts, essays of contestants of each grade will be judged by one or more persons designated by the principal. Two best essays will be passed on to the principal who will in turn appoint a judging committee of three to select the two best in the school.

The school's two best essays will be forwarded to the superintendent who will appoint a judging committee of three to decide upon the two best of schools under his jurisdiction. Two best essays on each subject will then be forwarded to the chairman of the county judging committee. Practically the same plan will be used in schools under jurisdiction of the county superintendent.

County judging committee will be composed of the common pleas court judge, an ex-service man designated by the state commander of the American Legion and a woman designated by the judge and ex-service man jointly. The judge will be chairman. Essays must be delivered to the county chairman not later than June 1, 1926.

In addition to the free Philadelphia trip, the Ohio Commission is arranging to give winners a trip to Valley Forge and will arrange the tour to see the Liberty Bell, Independence Hall, and other historical points of interest in and near Philadelphia.

GIVEN NEW TRIAL

COLUMBUS, March 31.—The state supreme court has affirmed the court of appeals of Lucas County in granting a new trial to Percy Parrott, Toledo attorney convicted of attacking a young girl in Toledo. The jury disagreed in Parrott's first trial but in the second he was convicted and sentenced to the state penitentiary.

WHO'S WHO AND WHAT'S HAPPENED

MARY WAITE shares two rooms with CELIA STEWART, and works as a stenographer and general assistant in the office of Stanley Blake. Mary has few friends, but Celia goes out frequently in the evening, though she does not tell with whom. Mary finds that Celia and Stanley see each other frequently, although Stanley is married. Mary goes to supper with

PAT HAMILTON, whom she has met before but whose attentions she has refused because he is married, and sees Celia and Stanley at another table. Mrs. Blake learns that Stanley is going around with some girl, and thinks it is Mary. She telephones Mary, threatening to make trouble unless Mary leaves town at once. Celia disappears. Mary sees Hamilton again, and he arranges for her to go to New York and work for a friend of his. Mary goes to work in New York for

MR. CRANDALL, a wealthy old man, and meets his son. WILL CRANDALL, who is very nice to her. She motors into the country with Will on Saturday afternoon, and they are stranded on a back road when the car runs out of gas.

TODAY'S INSTALLMENT

XXXIV—A HIDEOUS BLOW

MARY could not sleep that night after the delightful day spent at the beach with Will Crandall. She sat alone in her room, thinking over the various things that had happened.

"You're the sweetest girl in the world," she could still hear his voice, saying that, it seemed to her. He had spoken as if he meant it. And if he did mean it, why then—her thoughts raced off into the future, planning the things that might happen.

When she arrived at the Crandall's house the next day and went to the library, she found Mrs. Crandall there with her husband, talking far more loudly than she usually did. She stopped abruptly as Mary came in, then rose and crossed the floor.

"Remember, I won't have it," she told her husband, pausing near the door. "I insist that you do it at once, today!"

She had not spoken to Mary. Now she glanced at the girl, malevolently, and left the room.

Mary was taking off her coat when old Mr. Crandall spoke.

"I'm sorry, Miss Waite," he said, and Mary felt that the crustiness of his speech was due more to anger at his wife than at her. "But I've got to dismiss you. You can go at once. I'll get someone else to finish what you've been doing."

"But I—I—my work satisfactory?" faltered Mary.

"Oh, your work—yes, that's all right. Only—" he paused, as if trying to find a reason that he could give her. "I can't keep you on any longer; conditions make it advisable for me to let you go," he finished.

Mary did not know what to say. She could not imagine why she was being discharged. She knew that she had worked hard and faithfully for old Mr. Crandall. Perhaps his family had persuaded him that his work was of no importance, she told herself, finally; that must be it.

"I'll pay you a week's salary—oh yes, that's quite customary," he told her. "And the rest of this week's of course. If you—"

He did not finish that sentence. His old eyes were friendly as he told her goodbye. Mary felt sure that there was something he really wanted to say to her, but couldn't.

She walked slowly down the hall.

the letter of recommendation which he had given her in her hand. A stranger in the city, she did not know exactly where to turn for work. Oh well, she could get a newspaper and read the ads; that was the best way.

Only somehow she wasn't interested in getting another position. It was the first time she had ever felt just this way about her work. There was something else she wanted, more than anything she had ever wanted before. She would not admit that it was because she was in love with Will Crandall that she didn't want to go on working; that to be married to him and have her own home meant more to her now than it ever had.

Mary could not help connecting her dismissal with what Mrs. Crandall had said to her husband. What was it on which she had insisted, she asked herself—and why had she insisted on it? Mrs. Crandall had never been very friendly to her; today she had been most unpleasant, certainly.

Well, Will might be able to tell her why she had been dismissed so suddenly. At least he was kind.

She received a note from him that evening. To cheer herself up after an afternoon's useless job-hunting she had put on her prettiest negligee and a string of beads that her cousin Lulu had given her for Christmas. The landlady came shuffling upstairs with the letter late in the evening.

"This came for you this afternoon, but I forgot to tell you," she announced. "Somebody writing you

She received a note from Will.

from the University Club—guess he must have money."

Mary lifted her eyebrows in disapproval. She hated the thought that the letter had been examined and speculated on, as it quite evidently had.

When the woman had reluctantly departed she opened the envelope.

"Dear Mary," she read, "I'm sorrier than I can possibly tell you over what has happened; I've just learned about it. Will you have luncheon with me tomorrow and talk things over with me, please? I feel that this is all my fault, and if you want to come back to Dad as his secretary I'm sure I can arrange it—though after what has happened I don't suppose you'd even think of doing so. I don't blame you. You must be very angry with the Crandall family—only please, if you are, don't include me in it." It was signed, "Yours—Will."

Mary was puzzled. To what did he refer? He evidently thought that she knew far more than she did about the reason why his father had dismissed her.

She wrote him a note at once, merely saying, "Of course I'll have luncheon with you tomorrow." She dressed and ran down to the corner post box to mail it, hoping that he would receive it the first thing in the morning.

At least she'd find out why she had been discharged. And perhaps—perhaps Will Crandall had more than that to tell her!

Tomorrow—"I Love You."

KIWANIANS LISTEN TO SPEECH AT MEET

Well-handled scientific talk on "Electrons" was given by Harry E. Rice, former postmaster, and publisher of The Xenia Herald before the Xenia Kiwanis Club, Tuesday night at the Goody Shoppe.

The address reflected Mr. Rice's intensive reading and absorption of scientific data.

Quartette of girl students from Wilberforce University gave a group of vocal numbers during the meeting. They included the Misses Alberta Mayo, Alberta Mitchell, Katherine Parker, Eudie Rover, chaperoned by Mrs. A. Terry and accompanied on the piano by Professor Dennis.

Ten members of the local club attended the Springfield club meeting at Shawnee Hotel, Tuesday noon. The company included President J. T. Charters, Harry Rice, Dean Phillip Nash, Yellow Springs; E. H. Heathman, C. A. Kelble, C. E. Arbogast, D. D. Jones, J. D. Adair, Dr. Edward A. Kern and T. H. Zell.

Special program had been arranged by the Springfield clubmen. Local Kiwanians are planning to attend various clubs in the district, numbering nine, in order to "get acquainted."

CHURCH PAGEANTRY SCHOOL IS FEATURE

GAMBIER, O., March 31.—A church pageantry school with the Rev. Morton C. Stone, Chicago, as director, is to be a feature of the Gambier summer conference here June 20 to July 10, at Kenyon College.

Lessons, discussions and demonstrations on the religious drama will be included in the course which so far as is known is the first pageantry course given in a church conference session.

Overwrought Nerves

YOU never heard of a red-blooded person—man or woman—becoming a nervous wreck! And you never will. You never saw anybody with healthy, rich, red blood, get wearied by the activities of daily life. Did you?

No! It's weak blood—lack of healthy, rich, red blood. That's the whole trouble with those whose nerves are overwrought. They lack the resisting powers—the stamina that healthy, red-blood-cells give that enable us to stand up under the strain of daily life.

S. S. S. is the salvation of these unhappy people. It is just the thing needed to strengthen the nerves, restore muscular power to the body, and increase the endurance of weak, failing, run-down women and men.

Don't keep on going down simply because your blood is starving for want of healthy, red-blood-cells. You can get back your nerve power with S. S. S. You can do it just as surely as thousands have done for the past century.

S. S. S. also clears the skin of pimples, boils, eczema—hollow cheeks fill out and firm flesh takes the place of flabby muscles. Why, you'll begin living all over again. Get S. S. S. today from any good druggist. And get the larger bottle. It's more economical.

EDUCATION BOARDS WARNED TO COMPLY WITH BUDGET LAW

Warning to strictly follow all terms of the new budget law is issued by Vernon M. Riegel, state director of education, in a letter received Monday by H. S. LeSourd, president of the Xenia Board of Education. Similar letters were addressed to presidents of all education boards in Ohio.

Presidents are urged by the director to exercise great care in making up budgets for next year. Boards must not incur debts beyond their ability to pay, he said. The director also cautions the presidents to make prompt collection of tuition accounts, since tuition money may be used to pay bills during the year in which it is collected.

Director Riegel also advises that there is $300,000 less state aid money to be distributed. He says "it will be necessary for the state aid districts to cut their expenditures that much below what they were."

BANQUET ENJOYED
The Third Annual Epworth League Banquet was held in the basement of the Methodist Church, Friday evening. There were about one hundred and twenty present. The toastmaster of the evening was Mr. C. C. McFarland. He opened the program with a short talk followed by Rev. C. E. Turley, D. D. of Epworth M. E. Church, Dayton, who made a splendid address to the young people of the League. Little De Marald Coffman, a member of the Sunday school, sang two little selections. Dr. Jesse Swank, Dist. Supt. of the church made a fine address urging the young people to look at it. My stomach pained. I was fearfully constipated. After taking Carter's Little Liver Pills I have completely eliminated these conditions.

The members of the Presbyterian Church are invited to a covered dish supper to be held in the basement of their church Wednesday evening, April 7.

HEARD IN RECITAL
Miss Marguerite Williams gave and organ recital in the First Presbyterian Church, Xenia, Sunday afternoon. She was assisted by Mrs. Allen Swinnerton, contralto. A number from here went to Xenia to attend the recital.

OHIO AT WORK

OHIO MAKES GLASS

COPYRIGHT 1925 BY CENTRAL NATIONAL BANK, CLEVELAND.

Ohio's plants are a large factor in the glass making industry of the United States. Ohio, with West Virginia and Western Pennsylvania, constitutes the great glass producing center of the nation.

The total value of Ohio's production of glass in one year is $33,000,000, according to the reports of the United States Census Bureau at Washington.

Pressed and blown glass which the state makes in one year has a value of $14,000,000. Building and plate glass is valued at $9,000,000 in one year. The year's output of glass bottles and jars has an equal value. Miscellaneous articles of glass were worth $1,000,000.

Glass is an old industrial product, but it is finding more uses continuously. The popularity of the closed automobile, for instance, has created a new demand for glass.

In the last three years building in the United States has proceeded at a record rate, and this increases the market for glass.

"Me and the boy friend"

You know them, bless their hearts. A pair of youngsters, really, in spite of their self-reliant air and their fast-vanishing teens. The girl—slim, clear-eyed, merry; the boy—flippant, a bit arrogant, full of secret, earnest plans for success.

They like each other. They go to the movies together, dance, quarrel a bit. They don't believe in early marriages. But her eyes shine when she speaks of him. "Me and the boy friend."

One of these days, suddenly, they'll be grown up. Man and wife, those fearless youngsters. A home to plan, life to face. A budget, a savings account, economics.

They'll make mistakes, but they'll learn quickly. She'll begin to be canny in the spending of money—to question prices and values. She'll begin to read about the things she plans to buy, to find out all she can about them. She'll become a regular reader of advertisements.

They'll help her to become the capable, wise housewife she wants so much to be. They'll tell her what clothes are best and what prices to pay for them. They'll tell her about the foods to buy, the electric appliances, the linoleums and draperies. They'll help her, as the advertisements in this newspaper can help you.

And she'll meet her responsibilities and fulfill her duties easily and well. She won't become a tired, flustered, inefficient drudge. Because her home will be modern, attractive, well-run, she'll keep young—through the speedy years she'll retain much of that shining-eyed, merry freshness. She and the "boy friend."

Advertisements are wise counselors for housewives, young and old

PASTEURIZED

Raw milk, in spite of the most careful handling, is not free from germs. This has been fully demonstrated by the most careful scientific tests. Proper pasteurization of milk destroys any pathogenic organisms which might be present in raw milk and these bacteria cause tuberculosis, typhoid, scarlet fever and diphtheria. On the other hand pasteurization does not destroy the natural healthful organisms in the milk nor does it mar its fresh, sweet flavor.

Since milk is absolutely essential to the physical development of children and the health of adults it is imperative that safe milk be available at all times.

THREE FINED AFTER ARREST FOLLOWING ACCIDENT ON PIKE

Arrested in Probate Court Tuesday afternoon, Leonard Treiber, 50, was fined $300 and costs for possession of liquor, Calvin Daler, 29, $100 and costs for operating an auto while intoxicated, and Harley Thirkield, 35, $100 and costs, the maximum fine, for intoxication, by Judge S. C. Wright.

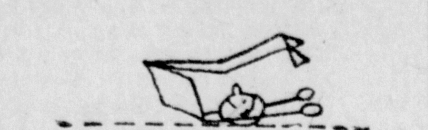

The trio pleaded guilty to the charges and each was committed to the County Jail until the fines and costs are paid. They live in Dayton.

They were arrested late Monday afternoon by Sheriff Morris Sharp and Deputy Sheriff John Baughn, after their automobile narrowly missed rolling down a steep embankment on the Dayton and Xenia pike west of Trebeins. Car was being driven toward Xenia.

The men were so far under the influence of liquor when arrested, they were unable to give their correct names until several hours after the near-accident, authorities say.

They were taken from their machine, a large closed model which was on the verge of upsetting after it had been ditched. Thirkield owned the auto. Part of a bottle of corn whiskey was also confiscated.

that this time you raise both legs instead of only one. Classes always grow enthusiastic over this exercise, and that is a good thing, for it should be done with a free-and-easy, rollicking motion.

It causes a free circulation of the abdominal blood vessels and aids the normal functioning of the digestive and elimination organs.

The next exercise, which is known as the Tree Touch, will give you even more of a roll. It will appear tomorrow.

WHITE CHAPEL

The White Chapel Community Club met at the schoolhouse on Friday evening. A short business meeting was held at 7:30 and the meeting was then turned over to the program committee. Mrs. Foy Coffelt and Mrs. Russell Halstead, of Xenia, furnished the piano music. Mrs. Coffelt sang several beautiful selections, which are always appreciated. Mr. J. A. Farquhar, gave a comical reading and responded to an entertainment. Master Charles Thomas sang "Show Me The Way To Go Home" and Master Allen Whittington in costume sang "The Little Red School" which pleased the audience so much that he was called back again and again.

Another very popular number was furnished by Mr. Russell Fudge and Mr. Russell Dean; in costume they sang "Everything Is Goin' To Be Alright" and they were called back again and again and captivated the audience with their jokes and songs. "The Family Holdback," a playlet in one act, was given by six members of the Xenia Grange, which was highly appreciated. The characters were as follows: "Pa," Mr. Fry Ford; "Ma," Mr. Adeline Thomas; "Mirandy," the oldest daughter; "Miss Christel Thomas;" "Sis," Miss Eleanor Ford; "Bud," Charles Thomas; "Alfred," Mirandy's beau; "Mr. Hubert Glass. After the play the social committee served refreshments, the proceeds to be used to pay on the new piano.

Mr. Bert Swindler, who has been ill with grippe for several weeks, is still confined to his home. The other sick members of his family are convalescent.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Jacks and baby daughter were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Gillim, of Wilmington, Sunday.

Mrs. Horace Turner will entertain the members of the White Chapel Aid Society on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

White Chapel M. E. Church, April 4—S. S. at 1:30. The children of the primary and junior departments will render an Easter program at the Sunday School hour. Church services at 2:30. Several of the children will be taken in the church at this hour, and some new members will be received by letter. Communion will be served following the services.

CLIFTON

PALM SUNDAY PROGRAM

Palm Sunday services at the Presbyterian Church were of unusual beauty and interest. The following musical program was given: "Easter Morning" by Rameaux; "Walter B. Corry, organist; Offertory, "There Is A Green Hill Far Away," by Gounod, Mrs. Walter Corry; Duet, "The Palms," by Faure Mrs. Walter Corry and Mrs. Mildred Foster, Closing Hymn "In the Cross of Christ I Glory," Congregation.

Dr. W. R. McChesney, president of Cedarville College preached an eloquent sermon, his theme being "The Victory and Conquests of Christ."

On Easter music will be furnished by the Junior Choir, Organ Voluntary, Hallelujah Chorus by W. B. Corry, organist.

Mrs. Douglas Luse will be hostess to the Presbyterian Ladies Aid on Thursday afternoon, April 1.

William Bond and family have moved into the Dunbar property on North Street.

Charles Harris and family have rented the Tanyard place, belonging to Mr. A. H. White and will move there this week.

Mrs. Luella Freeman has moved into her daughter's property on North St., on account of ill health.

Mrs. Anabel Grube, who recently resigned as telephone manager of this place has a position in Springfield.

Mrs. Lavinia McKinney, aged 85, who died at the home of her daughter in Xenia, was buried in Clifton Cemetery, Sunday. She was born in this place.

Mr. and Mrs. Stafford McCollough and little son, Joe, returned last week from California to their home here, on Main Street. They expect to remain here two months.

Mrs. Edith Reynolds, her daughter and baby of Kansas, are guests of Mrs. Bowen and other relatives here.

MIDDLEWEST IN GRIP OF BLIZZARD

MAY BLAME VENDETTA FOR TWO MURDERS

SEVEN KILLED WHEN
SNOW STORM BLINDS
AUTOSITS; 20 HURT

Storm To Continue 24
Hours—No Relief
Near

CHICAGO, March 31.—The middlewest today continued in the grip of an unseasonable blizzard which already has resulted in seven lives lost and a score of accidents.

Three persons were killed in Chicago in accidents while four were killed in Wisconsin, owing to the blinding snow, which prevented clear vision.

The entire middlewestern region from the mountains to Ohio and from the lakes south, today was blanketed high with snow and there will be no relief for the next twenty-four hours, the weather bureau reported.

Snow fall during the past twenty-four hours ranged between four and seven inches.

The United States weather bureau here reported snow, accompanied by high winds would continue for the next twenty-four hours.

Trains running out of the city were delayed by the snow which here has reached five and half inches. Three persons killed here in accidents by the storm were in car accidents. This was in addition to a crash between two "L" trains last night in which a score of passengers injured but none seriously. Wisconsin and Minnesota also reported heavy snowfalls.

BELIEVE SINISTER MOTIVE SURROUNDS MURDERS AT CANTON

May Link Slayings With
Volpe Death Some Time Ago

CANTON, O., March 31.—As mystery surrounding the murder of Pelini Tiberi and Rocco Serruci, Italians, deepened today Captain of Detectives Edward Swope considered the possibility that the two men were victims of a vendetta.

"Something more sinister than a bootleg or black hand feud lies behind these murders," Swope asserted, intimating that a vendetta feud for blood vengeance obligating the nearest relative of a slain or wronged man to exact punishment from the offender although it takes generations—may have inspired the slaying.

Other detectives were inclined to link the slaying with the mysterious murder of San Volpi, Canton contractor, whose frozen body was found in Pepper Pike Village, several weeks ago.

Swope has issued warrants for the arrest of two Italians suspected of Volpe's murder. The men are in Cleveland, he said, both pursuing secretive occupations.

Ferruci was shot as he sat in the home of Michael Lombardi, another Italian. He had been called to Lombardi's house to "receive" a telephone call. Lombardi was wounded.

Tiberi was stabbed to death by unidentified assailants. In addition to the vendetta angle, Swope was also considering the theory that Tiberi was slain because he may have been implicated in the murder of Volpe, and Ferruci was killed because he may have had something to do with the murder of Tiberi.

One of Volpe's friends has informed police that Volpe and Ferruci were close friends and that the two had obtained $4,000 and intended to enter the bootleg business.

PROMINENT FIGURE IN PAPERS THIRTY YEARS AGO IS FOUND

ASBURY, N. J., March 31.—Assured by Governor Moore that extradition to Birmingham, N. Y., to face forty-five year old charges of jail breaking will not be permitted, Dr. Edwin Pye Turner Osbaldeston, 93, now is busy explaining away other long forgotten stories in which his name is figured.

It was with difficulty that Dr. Osbaldeston was persuaded to admit that he was the "Professor" Edwin Turner Osbaldeston who was the central character in many bizarre news incidents of from twenty to thirty years ago, but the truth finally came to the surface.

In 1893 he started New York by offering $5,000 to a volunteer for a dangerous surgical experiment. There were 140 applicants and the man selected later died in Central America after two surgeons had operated upon him.

The strangest story of all was told in 1903 when Dr. Osbaldeston was accused of sending threatening letters to Mrs. Louisa Weiss, a former secretary. He said Mrs. Weiss had left him with a sum of money two years ago and had fled to Germany. There he said he had found her living with an Edward Van Well. A duel followed and the valiant doctor killed his antagonist and later another man. Because of his bravery the doctor admits modestly, he was feted by royalty and later released by direct order of Kaiser Wilhelm.

For twenty years he has led a quiet life in Asbury Park.

CABINET ACCEPTS GENEVA INVITATION

BERLIN, March 31.—The cabinet today agreed in principle, to accept the League of Nations invitation to participate in the commission which will examine the question of enlarging the league council to more representative proportions.

The invitation grew out of the failure this month to admit Germany to league membership because of a dispute over council seats.

IS ELECTROCUTED

DAYTON, O., March 31.—A man identified early this morning as Leslie Dunkle, 39, of 114 1/2 W. Third St., was electrocuted last night when he accidentally fell from a thirty-foot pole onto a 5,500-volt wire, the property of the Dayton Power and Light Co., three miles south of Dayton on the River Road.

Champion Ford Old Fiddler Comes Out of Tennessee Hills

"Uncle Bunt" Stephens of Tullahoma, Tenn., winner in old fiddler contest sponsored by Henry Ford, is preparing to tour the country. He is seen in New York with his wife, "Aunt Lizzie," and his fiddle which he bought 35 years ago for $25. It bears 1699 date and may be an "old master."

CINCINNATI BUSINESS MAN SEEKS NOMINATION FOR OHIO GOVERNOR

Myers Y. Cooper Makes Seventh To File for Office
—Is President of Ohio Council of Churches

COLUMBUS, O., March 31.—The number of avowed candidates for the Republican nomination for governor stood at seven today, with the entry of Myers Y. Cooper, wealthy Cincinnati business man.

Cooper, in declaring his candidacy, said representatives of business, labor and farmers have assured him of their support.

He pledges a "sound business administration based on constructive efficiency and wise economy," if nominated and elected.

Other candidates who have filed or announced to date include: Lieut. Gov. Charles H. Lewis, Harpster; Secretary of State Thad Brown, Columbus; State Treasurer Harry C. Day; Representative Ross Buchanan, Carrollton; Evelyn E. Snow, Mt. Vernon and Ross Beam, Napoleon.

Cooper is president of the Ohio Council of Churches and also president of the Ohio Fair Managers. He is prominent as a realtor and home builder.

Although he has played a prominent part in republican politics, Cooper has never before been a candidate for elective office.

Several former agents of the company according to reports today are reinvesting at their own expense policy holders who stand to lose in event the company is dissolved.

The state insurance department recently was authorized to take over and operate the company. The order was handed down by the common pleas court here after Conn charged company officers with making false financial statements.

ANNOUNCE EXAMS FOR SCHOLARSHIPS

COLUMBUS, March 31.—Examinations for the twenty scholarships in the college of agriculture of Ohio State University, made available by the board of trustees, will be held April 2, Vernon M. Riegel, state director of education has announced today.

Pupils in the senior classes of first or second grade high schools are eligible to take the examination. The state has been divided into four sections and five scholarships will be awarded to each.

EXPECT FINAL VOTE ON IMPEACHMENT

WASHINGTON, March 31.—A final vote in the house of impeachment of federal Judge George W. English of the eastern district of Illinois is expected late today.

The lower body met at eleven o'clock, an hour earlier than usual, leaders expecting to press for a vote before adjournment, so the way may be cleared for a recess from tomorrow night until Monday.

Although opponents of impeachment of English gained a few adherents yesterday, those behind the move were confident the house would accept the recommendation of the judiciary committee.

DISHONEST SELLING METHOD IS SCORED

COLUMBUS, O., March 31.—A warning against misrepresentations made by schoolbook publishing houses, was sent out today by Vernon M. Riegel, state director of education, to all county school superintendents.

Riegel told the superintendents to inform their boards of education that certain salesmen have been saying that if their goods were purchased the purchasing districts would be given state aid in paying for them.

"The entire scheme is dishonest and has no foundation in fact," Riegel said.

BOY IS KILLED

SPRINGFIELD, O., March 31.—Struck by an auto driven by Clifford McClintock when he scurried across the street in front of his home to "hide" in a game of hide and seek last night, Howard "Buddy" Bryant, 7, 705 East St., later died at the hospital from a fractured skull.

DECLINE IN MARKET IS PUZZLING WALL STREET

Selling Wave Mystifying Because No Excitement
Accompanies It—Railroad Stocks
Prove Weak

NEW YORK, March 31.—With practically half the stocks listed on the stock exchange at new low prices for the year, Wall Street today was frankly mystified at the persistent wave of selling which has attained the magnitude of a deluge.

The market is accustomed to declines but seldom has it seen one of the present importance, and completeness so devoid of excitement.

Even yesterday when the total of shares traded in exceeded the 3,000,000 mark and the volume of transactions became the third largest in the history of the exchange there was no frenzy.

The situation is aggravated by margin calls. During the night, they were exceptionally heavy.

Of most importance to seasoned speculators is the weakness displayed by the railroad stocks. Usually these issues are slow movers, but for the time being, they lost all traces of sluggishness and slumped downward under an avalanche of selling.

Such well known stocks in the investment or semi-investment class as New York Central, C. & O. and Delaware and Hudson were leaders of the reaction.

Since March 3, there have been "four big breaks" and each time the quotations have gone lower.

DEPUTIES NAMED TO LIQUIDATE AFFAIRS OF INSURANCE FIRM

COLUMBUS, March 31.—Affairs of the Great American Mutual Indemnity Company of Mansfield, recently taken over by the state insurance division, will be liquidated by Special Deputies Holland M. Edwards, Columbus attorney and Fred E. Gubrey, Marion attorney, it was announced today.

The work of liquidation and auditing of the company's books, will be directed from the concern's main offices in Mansfield, Harry L. Cann, state superintendent of insurance, said.

Several former agents of the company according to reports today are reinvesting at their own expense policy holders who stand to lose in event the company is dissolved.

The state insurance department recently was authorized to take over and operate the company. The order was handed down by the common pleas court here after Conn charged company officers with making false financial statements.

Although no official communications from authorities of the Ku Klux Klan have yet been placed on the record, both sides admit that the Klan opposition to the settlement has had its effect.

CHARLEY CHAPLIN IS FATHER AGAIN

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., March 31.—"We had expected a girl but we are tremendously happy," said 17-year-old Lita Grey Chaplin, who yesterday presented her husband, Charlie, with his second son.

Charles Spencer Chaplin equaled some happiness records himself. He refused to leave his wife and her seven pound boy to talk with a score of newspaper men, who called after the event yesterday.

Charlie Jr., born last June, already has seen his brother, but had no comment.

The latest arrival in the Chaplin home has not been named.

CITY WINS SUIT TO GET ASSESSMENT

COLUMBUS, O., March 31.—The City of Findlay won in the supreme court today when a decision affirming the lower court was handed down in a suit brought by H. W. Butler, of that city.

Butler instituted a suit in common pleas court to restrain the city from collecting a special assessment on his property, claiming the city was without power to do so, except by assessing the city as a whole, rather than "according to benefits."

WOMAN GETS LARGE
ALIENATION DAMAGE

COLUMBUS, O., March 31.—Under a ruling of the state supreme court today, Louise G. Oskamp, of Cincinnati, will receive damages of $100,000 from relatives of Herbert Oskamp, her husband, for alienation of his affections.

In announcing its decision, the court affirmed the court of appeals of Hamilton county which granted Mrs. Oskamp $100,000.

Mrs. Oskamp originally asked for $150,000, naming W. S. Oskamp, her husband's father, Gordon Oskamp, his brother, Adele Oskamp, his mother and Mrs. Adele Oskamp Ryan, sister, defendants.

Mrs. Oskamp was awarded $100,000 by the common pleas court, and this was affirmed by the appeals tribunal.

FIVE ARE BELIEVED
LOST IN LAKE BOAT

DETROIT, Mich., March 31.—Canadian and American shores of Lake St. Clair were searched today for trace of five unidentified persons who are believed to have lost their lives when a small motor boat capsized near the Detroit Waterworks.

Capsize of the frail craft and subsequent disappearance of the five occupants was witnessed by three persons standing on the American shore.

Today the scene of the disappearance is a swirling ice field and officials expressed the belief that occupants of the boat did not survive.

PEOPLE ESCAPE AS BUILDINGS BURNED

SALINEVILLE, O., March 31.—Several persons narrowly escaped death or injury today when fire destroyed five buildings, including two homes, in the business section here.

The blaze originated in a building owned by Harold Baker and quickly spread to adjoining structures, including the Thomas O'Brien property, two vacant buildings and the F. Solder home.

Members of the Solder family, awakened by a passerby, escaped to the street just as the roof of their house collapsed.

The blaze was discovered by a miner who sounded the alarm. Cause of the fire has not been determined. No estimate of the loss entailed has been made.

Fight Begins to Send Durkin, "Sheik Bandit" to Gallows

State's attorneys in Chicago declare they are ready to wage a fight to send Martin Durkin, two-gun "sheik bandit" to the gallows for the murder of two police officers. The trial opens April 5. Durkin says he committed the crimes in "self-defense." Photos show Durkin and two women who will figure prominently in the trial, (left) Betty Werner, the woman he deserted to marry (right) Irma Sullivan. He was trapped on his honeymoon.

TOLEDO BANDIT QUIZZED ABOUT MURDER OF FRANKLIN OFFICER

Attempt To Connect Man Who Shot Marshal With
Slaying of Watchman at Franklin Store
—Confess Shooting

BELLEFONTAINE, O., March 31.—Ervin Courtney, Toledo bandit arrested at West Mansfield after his companion, Jack Stringer, an alleged gunman, shot and wounded Marshal Fay Middlesworth, was questioned today in connection with the killing of J. A. Bengt, a night patrolman at Franklin, Ohio.

Courtney, according to police, has signed a written confession accusing Stringer of shooting Middlesworth who surprised the two shortly after they dynamited a safe in a West Mansfield store.

Middlesworth was wounded during the ensuing running gun battle. Police said they were convinced either Courtney or Stringer have knowledge of the slaying of Bengt, who was shot while attempting to frustrate a robbery.

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., March 31.—Twelve hundred miners withdrew their tools from the James A. Paisley mines of this district and the company closed the mines indefinitely.

The shut-down was the result of the company's statement that it could not meet the provisions of the Jacksonville wage scale and sell the coal profitably.

Van Bittner, representative of the United Mine Workers of America, refused to comment on the situation today. He said he had been "out of touch" with the district while conferring with John L. Lewis at Indianapolis.

KILLS WOMAN AND COMMITTS SUICIDE

DAYTON, O., March 31.—Acy Dobbins, 69, colored, 326 Dakota St., fatally wounded Mrs. Elizabeth Buckner, 46, colored, 1352 W. Second St., and then took his own life in a running gun battle with Patrolman W. F. Schrader yesterday afternoon.

HANGS IN JAIL

COLUMBUS, O., March 31.—Rather than face imprisonment in the state penitentiary Paul Drumm, 32, while held at the city prison on an assault and battery charge, hanged himself with his belt during the night.

DO YOU Know These MEN?

They Are The Expert Engineers Who Are In Charge Of Our Ice Making Machinery

They are the kind of men required to keep a refrigeration plant running successfully. The complicated, delicately adjusted machinery necessary to assure complete refrigeration cannot be trusted to inexperienced hands without sooner or later bringing the plant to grief. In our plant where ice is manufactured scientifically, engineers who are masters in their line are constantly busy keeping every part in perfect running order. EVEN THEN BREAK-DOWNS DO OCCUR and that means calling in still other experts to repair the damage to the machinery. Ice cannot be manufactured without the use of costly and complicated machinery and a plant of whatever size, cannot be maintained in good order without the care of experienced engineers. Unless it is expertly cared for, the first cost of installing a refrigeration plant is the smallest item. We are able to furnish ice at the present low cost only because our perfectly equipped plant is cared for by skilled engineers who reduce the cost of upkeep to the minimum.

No Investment Is Required

You are not required to make an outlay of hundreds of dollars in order to have the advantage of modern refrigeration in your home. All you need is a refrigerator and an ice card. Our workmen attend to the care of machinery, the distilling and purifying of the water and the placing of the ice in your chest. You have no investment and no risk.

There is no danger that the failure of some part of the machinery to function properly will create a high explosive that may wreck your home. They are the men, who, unseen to you, lutely free from germs. On scorching summer days you may delight in its musical tinkle in refreshing beverages, you may serve it about your food or you may let it melt into drinking water that is purity itself. During the warm months the modern home requires an abundance of perfectly pure ice in a form convenient for immediate use. This is the service these men on this page render in your home. They are the men, who, unsten to you, provide you with a health-giving luxury that kings and queens of past ages would have envied. Take a piece of ice from our plant—note its perfect clearness—not a cloud, not a single streak to proclaim the presence of some unhealthful element. It is doubly distilled and purified again and again until not a trace of impurity remains—simply shining clearness—the acme of purity.

When Better Methods Are Perfected We Will Have Them

If the time comes when the same degree of purity and perfection in ice making can be achieved by less complicated methods than those now in use we will not only have them for ourselves but will do our utmost to have them installed in every home. At the present time no other method offers the same degree of purity, convenience or economy as the distribution of ice from the ice plant. The interest alone on the amount of money required for an investment in home refrigeration will supply the average family with ice for a year—and this is exclusive of the cost of upkeep, the care of the plant and other expense items. Instead of trying to serve yourself at great expense and by unfamiliar methods let your good friends on this page continue to do your work for you at less cost than you can do it yourself.

MR. AND MRS. S. B. LESOURD CELEBRATE GOLDEN WEDDING
Commemorating the service which made them man and wife fifty years ago, Mr. and Mrs. S. B. LeSourd celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at their home on E. Second St., Tuesday evening, surrounded by their intimate friends and relatives.

Fifty-four guests were received at the LeSourd home, including friends of many years and business associates of Mr. LeSourd, who is president of the S. B. LeSourd and Co., insurance agency and secretary of the Home Building and Savings Co.

Guests were received by Mr. and Mrs. LeSourd, who fully shared in the import of the interesting occasion. Mrs. LeSourd wore a gown of grey georgette with a corsage of yellow rose buds, gift of Mr. LeSourd, which blended in color with baskets of snapdragons used in the reception hall.

A golden tone predominated in the decorations for the occasion, masses of roses and snapdragons, tokens of congratulations from friends of Mr. and Mrs. LeSourd, being placed about the rooms, some bouquets combining a pink and rose tone with the yellow shades.

After the reception, guests were seated at quartet tables, arranged throughout the rooms. Each table was centered with a single yellow rose bud in a crystal vase. Among the guests were six friends of Mr. and Mrs. LeSourd who attended their marriage a half century ago. They were seated with Mr. and Mrs. LeSourd at the bride's table in the dining room. This handsomely appointed table was centered with a mass of yellow roses and greenery, flanked with tall yellow tapers in silver holders. The buffet was centered with a yellow basket of yellow rose buds, the handle of which was tied with a bow of gold tissue.

Members of Mr. and Mrs. LeSourd's family assisted in receiving the guests. Members of the immediate LeSourd family are their three children, Mr. Harry S. LeSourd, of the Home Building and Savings Co., Mrs. S. M. McKay, W. Church St., and Mrs. Frank Dubois, Warren, Pa., and their six grandchildren, Mr. William LeSourd, Mr. Richard LeSourd, Miss Helen LeSourd, the Misses Eleanor and Margaret McKay and Master John Dubois.

Mr. and Mrs. LeSourd's marriage took place fifty years ago at the Jacoby homestead, at Goes Station where Miss Ida May Stewart plighted her troth to Mr. LeSourd. After their marriage, Mr. and Mrs. LeSourd resided at Bethany, O., for two and one-half years, moving from there to Xenia where they have resided since.

Mr. LeSourd is one of the best known business men in the vicinity, being in business forty-eight years. He started in the insurance business in Xenia at that time and later formed a partnership with the late Frank B. McGervey, the firm being then known as McGervey and LeSourd. After Mr. McGervey's death the firm became known as S. B. LeSourd and Co. The business is incorporated with the Home Building and Savings Co., of which Mr. LeSourd has been secretary since the death of Mr. McGervey in 1902. The Home Building and Savings Co., was organized in 1894.

Mr. and Mrs. LeSourd were presented with a radio by members of their family and Mrs. Laura Alexander for the occasion. Out-of-town guests at the wedding anniversary celebration were Mr. J. P. LeSourd, Mr. LeSourd's brother, and Mrs. Rhoda Stayback, of Hamilton, O., Mr. and Mrs. Frank Williamson, Monroe, O., Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Corry, Miss Mabel Stewart, Miss Jessie Stewart and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stewart, all of Springfield, O., Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dubois, Warren, Pa.

DESK GIVEN AWAY AT SORORITY PARTY

Members of Alpha Theta Chapter, Delta Theta Tau Sorority will again play the part of hostesses when they receive a large company of card lovers at the Shawnee Tea Shoppe, Thursday evening for another of the public card parties which have been a success in the past. Playing will start at 8 o'clock.

The party is expected to attract a large number of players since the spinet desk offered by the chapter will be given away during the evening.

ELKS' DANCE TO BE GIVEN APRIL 6

Miss Mary Hamlin, student at Kansas University, Lawrence, will spend the Easter recess with a sorority sister, Miss Margaret Trent, at Hiawatha, Kas.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Armistead, New Philadelphia, who have been visiting Mr. Armistead's relatives at Oxford, O., are visiting Mrs. Armistead's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Huston, W. Third St.

Mr. R. S. Kingsbury, W. Second St., who has been spending the winter in Bellare, Fla., and at other southern points, returned home Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. Henry Eavey, student at the University of Pennsylvania, is expected to arrive in Xenia Thursday morning to spend his Easter vacation period with relatives.

Little Miss Patricia Ann Farrell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lawrence Farrell, New York City, is visiting her maternal grandparents, Judge and Mrs. Marcus Shoup. She will be accompanied home in two weeks by her aunt, Mrs. Robert Arthur Kelly, who will remain in New York for two weeks. Mr. Farrell, sports editor of the United Press, and Mrs. Farrell are sailing April 15 for Europe to spend several weeks while Mr. Farrell "covers" some important sport events.

CONSTANT WAVING

AND CURLING

RUINS HAIR

Girls just must curl and wave bobbed hair to appear their prettiest. But constant curling and waving burn and dry the lustre, vitality and very life from the hair. To offset these bad effects, just get a 35-cent bottle of delightful, refreshing "Danderine" at any drug store or toilet counter and just see for yourself how quickly it revives dry, brittle, lifeless and fading hair.

"Danderine" is a dependable tonic and will do wonders for any girl's hair. It nourishes, stimulates and strengthens each single hair, bringing back that youthful gleam, shiny and vigorous luxuriance. Fading hair stops and dandruff disappears. "Danderine" is pleasant and easy to use.

INTERESTING PAPERS

AT JUNIOR WOMAN'S CLUB

"India in World Politics" was the subject of a splendid paper read by Mrs. E. R. Bryant at the meeting of the Junior Woman's Club at the home of Mrs. M. L. Wolf, N. King St., Tuesday afternoon. The paper was of particular import to club members since the subject was that assigned the late Mrs. S. D. Fess, wife of the United States senator, active club member whose untimely death took place a few months ago.

As an interesting companion paper, Mrs. W. Crawford Craig read "British Rule in India" after that of Mrs. Bryant.

Next club meeting will be held April 13.

JUNIOR MUSIC LOVERS MEETING

Junior Music Lovers Club met at the home of Miss Emily Dean, Saturday afternoon. Program of the afternoon included "Sonatina," by Beethoven, piano solo by Miss Frances Bryant; solo, "Winter Memories," by Berton and Brown, sung by Miss Dora Hayward; "Love's Greeting," by Elgar, played by Miss Mildred Waddle and a piano solo, by Miss Helen Benbow. After a contest, refreshments were served and a social time enjoyed.

The Theatre

"The play is not the thing; the presentation is," says Gilbert Seldes, in "The Theater," commenting on the elaborate program that has been built up around motion pictures in cities and which has invaded even the small cities, such as Xenia.

"A few years ago you could manage to see a picture, two or three weeks after its issue, in a neighborhood house where the only unit apart from the pictures was the wheezing of a small organ inviting people to get out," says Mr. Seldes.

But now people in cities particularly, go to see big feature pictures because of their accompaniment and the features that have been arranged to add to their attraction. "From the beginning the moving picture had accompaniments; it had music as soon as it outgrew the peep-show stage, it was in the early days part of a vaudeville entertainment," is what Mr. Seldes has to say. He advises pictures.

THE PUZZLE GROWS

E. T. MEREDITH, former secretary of agriculture and for many years a publisher of farm journals, has given the latest opinion about what to do to relieve the farm situation. If any one speaks with authority, Mr. Meredith should do so. Yet his statement of what is necessary to be done seems chiefly to show the difficulties of the problem.

Mr. Meredith agrees with opinion previously expressed that the trouble on the American farm has to do with the surplus. Instead of proposing some way to market the surplus, however, he suggests that a way be found to avoid a surplus.

This apparently leads to the question that has been uppermost since the beginning of the farm discussion: How can the thing be done?

Those who have proposed a nation-wide organization of co-operative marketing have had this phase of the problem in mind. Difficult as their program was, because of its size, it apparently was the only answer, if there is an answer, to the question presented.

The millions of farmers are not like the relatively few hundred of manufacturers in any one line. They are not like the organized workers—neither in numbers nor in character or location of job, not in temperament. Some way might be found to reach the farmers of Michigan and persuade them that next year is a poor year to "go in" strong for corn. The news might not reach the farmers of Iowa or Missouri or Illinois—or, if it did, it might not influence them. Kansas might, by extraordinary extension of co-operation under present conditions, decide to slow up on wheat at planting time this fall. The same idea might not appeal to the Dakotas next spring at their planting time—particularly if, in the meantime, an attractive market had been created.

Geographically, the farm problem is as broad and as wide as this vast country, and every one of the millions of farmer units in it is an individualist. Exactly the same obstacle has presented itself to the plans for government marketing of surplus, in a program of guaranteeing a profitable price for crops. Who can tell what the surplus would be, or how much it might grow as soon as a profitable return was under-written?

The fundamental demand at Washington has not been that something be done for the farmer, but the demand to know what can be done, that will work.

A DIRECT STATEMENT

GREAT significance is attached to the fact that the declaration "it pays to advertise" is universally used, while the interrogation, "Does it pay to advertise?" or its equivalent is unheard of.

That advertising does pay is so apparent no one today asks proof of the fact, but if substantiation were required it could be found in the 1925 volume of newspaper advertising. Business in the United States spends billions for advertising every year, investing the greater portion of that sum in newspaper advertising space. National advertisers alone spent $215,000,000 for newspaper advertising last year, exceeding the record established in 1923 when this single item of advertising reached $205,000,000.

These advertisers are not philanthropists. They do not give such vast sums to the newspapers of the country year after year and charge it to charity. That they are getting the desired return from every dollar thus spent is evident from the fact that they are spending more each year for this purpose.

Who pays for this advertising? The merchants and manufacturers who do not advertise. This huge advertising bill is paid for by the advertisers from the loss of business and profits sustained by the non-advertisers.

Through this newspaper advertising the national or local advertiser reaches from one to ten persons in every household. The newspaper ad is the great show window and show case of the national merchant and is an indispensable auxiliary facility for the local merchant.

SOME DEFINITIONS

ANYONE can go to the dictionary for definitions, but in no dictionary will be found quite so good a definition of "gossip" as that given by a child who on being asked what the word meant, said, "it's when nobody don't do nothing and somebody goes and tells about it."

Amid a collection of droll or witty definitions accumulated from time to time through newspaper reading, the following seem worthy of repetition: "Dandy"—"a football for men and a pincushion for women." "Snoring"—"Sleeping out loud." "Bachelor"—"a man who has lost the opportunity of making some woman miserable." "Tyrant"—"one who kills worms lest they turn."

"Nothing"—"a bunghole without a barrel around it." "Truth"—"the only thing that can't be improved upon." "Polite interest"—"listening to things you know all about, told by one who knows nothing about them." "Cannibal"—"one who loves his fellowmen." "Caution"—"the dark lantern of enterprise." "Smiles"—"laughter's photographs."

A NOURISHING PIE

"Please tell us how to make your favorite pie, whatever it may be," writes a bride Reader Friend. Here it is:
Currant-Raisin Pie: I always make this with a pie crust, which contains no butter, as follows:
Pastry without Butter: Put one and one-half cups of pastry flour into a bowl and stir in one-half teaspoon of salt and one-half teaspoon of baking powder. With two knives, held like a pair of scissors, cut in one-half cup of pure lard. Then wet with three-quarters of a cup of cold water and toss on a floured bread board. Roll out to one-fourth inch in thickness, dot with one-half cup of additional lard, and fold in from both sides to form a long roll. Double one half of this roll over the other half, and cut in two.
Roll one portion for the under crust. Stick it all over with a fork, after putting it in the ungreased pie pan, but do not trim edges yet. Then roll out the other half of the pastry into as nearly circular shape as possible.

CHAMPION FIRE DEPARTMENT.

In the days before the Civil War Cedarville boasted a volunteer fire department that was the pride of the village.

Formerly state contests were held among fire companies, competitive contests of all kind calculated to exhibit the speed and accuracy with which they could handle their apparatus.

It was largely because of desire to compete in such contests that practically every village of any size in the state organized volunteer fire companies in the '50s. Many members wore gaudy uniforms, more ornamental than useful.

With James Bogle as captain and A. S. Frazer as chief nozzleman, Cedarville took the field with one of these companies in 1852. It trained with all the enthusiasm of a modern football team and captured prizes everywhere over the state.

It first purchased a second-hand engine, a hand affair, and a hose reel. With this meager outfit it prepared to meet all comers in the state.

First public appearance was made in a contest at Springfield, O., July 4, 1854. In those days water was thrown by "human" power. Power was derived from men wielding the handle of their small engine. Local company outdistanced all competitors by at least fifteen feet in the first brush.

Record of its maiden effort was not preserved, but the Cedarville company later won first prize, a silver trumpet, with a spurt of 240 feet, in a contest at Zanesville.

Victories followed in quick succession at Sandusky, Tiffin and Dayton and in each instance a silver trumpet was won for the best showing.

No record was kept of the total winnings and all evidences of the prowess of the company were destroyed when the Cedarville Opera House burned in 1887.

Among the "fire laddies" who were members of this famous company were the Kyles, Turners, Jacksons, James Bogle, A. S. Frazer, Edward Vanhorn and a number of others.

DOUBT

The man never lived who didn't doubt. And the greater a man's capacity for thought, for imagination, and for achievement, the deeper do these doubts dig with their roots.

So that one of the most sublime things in this world is doubt—because it precedes faith.

Put doubt in a man's mind and it won't take long for you to measure his caliber. All great men have doubted. They have had times when they fairly trembled because of indecision and doubt. But at such a time greatness always broods.

Who can measure the anguish of a doubting man? Not the doubt of the cynic or of the hoaster, but of him who honestly searches for the truth, and who sincerely desires to contribute worth and service to others.

A Washington at Valley Forge. A Lee at Arlington, a Lincoln in the White House at Washington.

The story of human life is one of billions of doubts. Even when we do something that seems to us very right, we are enveloped in doubts. We never seem to be quite sure, never quite strong enough to risk all or to believe all.

Our days are filled with wondering. Why didn't we do this? Why did we do that?

To go into the work of life with the spirit "to gain or lose it all" is an heroic thing to do. To strive has its reward, perhaps not less than to have achieved.

No wonder that there is a Staying Hand in the world. Somebody, some special somebody, must be around to guide and point us ahead into the right road. Or else we would all be continually losing our way.

There is something more than beauty to that little prayer our mothers taught us so long ago: "Now I lay me down to sleep; I pray the Lord my soul to keep. If I should die before I wake, I pray the Lord my soul to take."

MODISH MITZI—Mitzi Tells Dad A Thing Or Two

BY J. V. JAY

"It looks like a traffic tower on Fifth Avenue," says Dad observing the little hat pin of brilliants that Mitzi holds in her hand. "It is," replies Mitzi. And it's for my hat. "But, my dear, you already have an ornament on your hat," says Dad. As if that mattered. One goes on and the other comes off.

Not only that, but Mitzi has many hat pin ornaments. There's the Eiffel Tower that's pinned on one side now. It's a glitter of rhinestones. And the pin that she holds in her hand is a feather that will go in her cap, or should we say hat, since her felt is one of these very high crowned tight fitting affairs.

The initial pin is very new, too. You can have your first, second and third name initials, and any more if you have them, put on the front of your hat. Mitzi wears a straight pin with green stones in her hat at present. But she does love to contemplate a change. Not one but many. Yes, Mitzi is like that.

Dad is demurring. Why does she want so many? She can't wear them all at once. There's just one telling argument Mitzi uses to silence Dad. "It's so economical to buy so many pins for one hat instead of buying a new hat. The pin, you see, changes the appearance entirely." And who is Dad to advance any argument against that? Silence. Utter silence.

MISS PHYLIS JONES ATTAINS UNUSUAL RECORD AS ATHLETE

Miss Phylis Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Jones, Jamestown, senior at Ross Twp., High School, is rated as the outstanding and most remarkable girl basketball player in the history of Greene County court circles.

The Ross High girl has played through four straight seasons as a member of the sextet, never missing a game, or a minute of play, never removed for a substitute and never injured. Besides this remarkable accomplishment, Miss Jones has been elected on the all-county high school tournament teams at Antioch, College for four straight years.

This record has never been equaled by any boy or girl athlete in Greene County high schools, it is said.

Miss Jones began playing a forward position in her freshman year, holding down this position for the past four years. Her sister, Rachel Jones is also a noted Ross basketball star.

Not does the girl wonder confine her efforts to the basketball court. She also excels in studies and has ranked first in scholastic work for four years, being valedictorian of her class this year.

Miss Jones is interested in physical education and intends to follow up this branch of endeavor after graduating from college.

Coach Earl E. Prugh, athletic director at Antioch College, Yellow Springs, regards her record as the most unusual in his experience.

RESERVES BACKING BENEFIT MOVIE TO IMPROVE DIAMOND

Benefit moving picture show for the Xenia Reserves Baseball Club, to finance putting Washington Park in shape for the coming season, conditioning the diamond and providing covers for the stands, will be given at the Orpheum Theater, Monday and Tuesday evenings, April 19 and 20, it is announced.

Feature picture will be Tom Mix, the screen favorite of Western picture lovers, in "My Own Pal." Mix has a wide following in Xenia and the picture should prove an attraction.

Ticket sale will be opened immediately and tickets may be obtained at the Sutton Music Store, Dawson Meat Market, the Henny confectionery and the Power Plus oil stations. Admission will be twenty-five cents.

The club plans to do extensive remodeling work at the park. The diamond will be rolled and placed in first class condition and it is also proposed to erect coverings for the bleacher seats to shelter fans from vagaries of summer weather. This improvement will meet with unanimous approval of local baseball enthusiasts.

"HAIR-GROOM"

Keeps Hair Combed, Glossy Well-Groomed all Day

"Hair-Groom" is a dignified combing cream which costs only a few cents a jar at any drugstore. Millions use it because it gives that natural gloss and well-groomed effect to the hair—that final touch to good dress both in business and on social occasions. Even stubborn unruly or shampooed hair stays combed all day in any style you like. "Hair-Groom" is greaseless; also helps grow thick, heavy, lustrous hair.—Adv.

PASTOR CONDUCTS SERVICES OF HOLY WEEK ON TUESDAY

Passion week services were held at the First Methodist Church Tuesday night, conducted by Dr. F. W. Stanton, pastor. He spoke on "Jesus in Service," using as his text, Matt. 25:40.

He said in part: "In several parables and discourses Jesus taught on Tuesday of Holy Week the great central idea of Service. In the parable of the withered fig tree He taught the ultimate disaster of fruitlessness. In the story of the wicked husbandman and the vineyard He taught that work for self alone is harmful. In the parable of the wedding of the king's son He set forth the truth that when we work by other methods than God's our work is futile.

"The striking parable of the ten virgins and the talents taught that service is the key to life's success. In the discourse on the judgment of the nations, when the sheep and the goats are separated the divine Teacher set forth the great truth that service to God can be rendered only by service to our fellowmen. He did not condemn those on the left for what they had done, but for what they omitted to do."

Dr. Stanton will take as his subject Wednesday night, "Jesus in Retirement." Service will be at 7:30.

EVANGELIST GIVES WEDNESDAY SUBJECT

"The First Century Smart Alex" will be the Wednesday evening subject of the Rev. Ray G. Upson, at the revival services at United Brethren Church, Thursday evening he will give a song in pantomime with the assistance of seven young women.

Prayer meetings announced for Thursday are as follows: Mrs. Sidney Muterspaw, 210 N. Miami street; Mrs. Charles Grandin, leader; Mrs. Bert Lemons, 27 Cincinnati Ave.; Mrs. Ora Harness, leader; Mrs. Thomas Cunningham, 329 Washington St.; Mrs. C. S. Mock, leader.

Joint meeting of all these groups will be held in the chapel Friday at 10 a. m., with a special program by the juniors in the evening.

JUDGE GOWDY WILL SEEK SECOND TERM

Common Pleas Judge R. L. Gowdy definitely announced his intention of becoming a candidate for a second term this year, upon his return from Cleveland, where he has been serving on the Cuyahoga County bench several weeks.

Judge Gowdy's first term of six years expired this year. Although it is not required, the judge expects to file his candidacy for the August primary, following his custom six years ago, to receive party endorsement. The jurist will probably be unopposed for re-election as no other candidates for the office loom at present.

CLIFTON MINISTER SPEAKS AT CHURCH SERVICES TUESDAY

The Rev. William Wilson, Clifton, O., former evangelist, preached at Presbyterian Church, Tuesday evening, basing his remarks on Psalm 49:8 "The Redemption of the Soul is Precious." The speaker stressed two thoughts: first, the actual value of a human soul, namely, origin, capacities, the seat of true happiness and its eternal duration or existence; second, the actual cost of the redemption of a human soul—Christ the redeemer paid a great price for the redemption of a soul.

The evangelist showed by references to scripture the unusual price of salvation in Christ Jesus. He closed with several illustrations depicting soul redemption and the happiness to individuals.

Miss Zella Soward sang a solo "Hear Ye, O Israel." Third service of the week will present Marvin Williams, student for the ministry and member of the local church. A duet will be given by Miss Ruth Alexander and Mrs. Earl Short. Good crowds greeted the speakers each evening and two members were received into the church Tuesday evening.

COURT OF APPEALS STILL IN SESSION

Because of the unusually heavy docket, the Court of Appeals for the second appellate district continued in extra session in Common Pleas Court Wednesday.

Thirteen cases carried upon error confronted the appellate court judges Tuesday and hearing of evidence could not be concluded in one day. The twelfth case was being heard late Wednesday morning. Work was cleared up on the afternoon.

No decisions are expected to be announced for at least several weeks.

SCHOOL PUPILS ARE INVITED TO WRITE ESSAYS FOR CONTEST

Pupils in Xenia schools may participate in the Ohio School Children's Essay Contest as arranged by the Sesqui-Centennial Commission of Ohio in connection with Ohio's participation in the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition at Philadelphia, Pa., this year, it is announced.

An information pamphlet regarding the contest, rules, prizes and judging has been received by Superintendent Harper C. Pender. Director of the Sesqui-Centennial Commission of Ohio has mailed similar pamphlets to the head of each local school district to be given each teacher in order that they may be familiar with rules and regulations of the contest.

According to the rules of the contest, the boy or girl in each county of the state attending an elementary grade up to and including the eighth grade, who writes the best essay on the subject, "What the Declaration of Independence Means to Me," will be given a free trip to the exposition at Philadelphia at the expense of the state during July or August.

Similar prize will be awarded to the boy or girl attending the four high school grades, who writes the best essay on the subject, "How has the Declaration of Independence Influenced the World?"

Essays of elementary grade pupils are restricted to not more than 600 words and upper class students to a maximum of 1,000 words.

In city and exempted village districts, essays of contestants of each grade will be judged by one or more persons designated by the principal. Two best essays will be passed on to the principal who will in turn appoint a judging committee of three to select the two best in the school.

The school's two best essays will be forwarded to the superintendent who will appoint a judging committee of three to decide upon the two best of schools under his jurisdiction. Two best essays on each subject will then be forwarded to the chairman of the county judging committee. Practically the same plan will be used in schools under jurisdiction of the county superintendent.

County judging committee will be composed of the common pleas court judge, an ex-service man designated by the state commander of the American Legion and a woman designated by the judge and ex-service man jointly.

The judge will be chairman. Essays must be delivered to the county chairman not later than June 1, 1926.

In addition to the free Philadelphia trip the Ohio Commission is arranging to give winners a trip to Valley Forge and will arrange the tour to see the Liberty Bell, Independence Hall, and other historical points of interest in and near Philadelphia.

GIVEN NEW TRIAL

COLUMBUS, March 31.—The state supreme court has affirmed the court of appeals of Lucas County in granting a new trial to Percy Parrott, Toledo attorney convicted of attacking a young girl in Toledo. The jury disagreed in Parrott's first trial but in the second he was convicted and sentenced to the state penitentiary.

Ford When You Trade Your Car—

Ford owners are continually being approached by automobile salesmen who wish to "accept" Fords as part payment on more expensive cars.

It is perfectly logical that automobile dealers everywhere should be eager to trade with Ford owners. The Ford is the most popular automobile in the world. No other used car is so easy to sell as a used Ford—because everyone has confidence in Ford quality. And it is not expensive to re-condition, since Ford replacement parts are lowest in price.

Most automobiles carry greater discounts to dealers than the Ford—another reason why other dealers may offer the Ford owner a larger trade-in allowance.

But when you come to buy a new car, bear these facts in mind:

The amount of the trade-in allowance you can get is not the most important thing for you to consider. The big thing is the difference you have to pay. And remember, that the higher priced car will not be so easy to dispose of when you come to trade it in.

If you wish to trade your Ford for a new automobile, stick to the car that you know to be dependable, useful and economical. Go to your Ford dealer!

He will give you a fair and liberal allowance for your present Ford and will gladly arrange payment of the balance to suit your convenience.

When the deal is over, and you have your new and improved Ford, you will have the satisfaction of knowing positively that you took advantage of the greatest automobile value the world has ever seen—and saved a lot of money, too.

WHO'S WHO AND WHAT'S HAPPENED

MARY WAITE shares two rooms with CELIA STEWART, and works as a stenographer and general assistant in the office of STANLEY BLAKE. Mary has few friends, but Celia goes out frequently in the evening, though she does not tell with whom. Mary finds that Celia and Stanley see each other frequently, although Stanley is married. Mary goes to supper with

PAT HAMILTON, whom she has met before but whose attentions she has refused because he is married, and sees Celia and Stanley at another table. Mrs. Blake hears that Stanley is going around with some girl, and thinks it is Mary. She telephones Mary, threatening to make trouble unless Mary leaves town at once. Celia disappears.

Mary sees Hamilton again, and he arranges for her to go to New York and work for a friend of his. Mary goes to work in New York for MR. CRANDALL, a wealthy old man, and meets his son WILL CRANDALL, who is very kind to her. She motors into the country with Will on Saturday afternoon, and they are stranded on a back road when the car runs out of gas.

XXXIV—A HIDEOUS BLOW

MARY could not sleep that night, after the delightful day spent at the beach with Will Crandall. She sat alone in her room, thinking over the various things that had happened.

"You're the sweetest girl in the world," she could still hear his voice, saying that, it seemed to her. He had spoken as if he meant it. And if he did mean it, why then—her thoughts raced off into the future, planning the things that might happen.

When she arrived at the Crandall's house the next day and went to the library, she found Mrs. Crandall there with her husband, talking far more loudly than she usually did. She stopped abruptly as Mary came in, then rose and crossed the floor.

"Remember, I won't have it," she told her husband, pausing near the door. "I insist that you do it at once, today!"

She had not spoken to Mary. Now she glanced at the girl, malevolently, and left the room.

Mary was taking off her coat when old Mr. Crandall spoke.

"I'm sorry, Miss Waite," he said, and Mary felt that the crustiness of his speech was due more to anger at his wife than at her. "But I've got to dismiss you. You can go at once; I'll get someone else to finish what you've been doing."

"But I—I—can't my work satisfactory?" faltered Mary.

"Oh, your work—yes, that's all right. Only—" he paused, as if trying to find a reason that he could give her. "I can't keep you on any longer; conditions make it advisable for me to let you go," he finished.

Mary did not know what to say. She could not imagine why she was being discharged. She knew that she had worked hard and faithfully for old Mr. Crandall. Perhaps his family had persuaded him that his work was of no importance, she told herself, finally; that must be it.

"I'll pay you a week's salary—oh yes, that's quite customary," he told her. "And the rest of this week's of course, if you—"

He did not finish that sentence. His old eyes were friendly, as he told her goodbye. Mary felt sure that there was something he really wanted to say to her, but couldn't.

She walked slowly down the hall.

the letter of recommendation which he had given her in her hand. A stranger in the city, she did not know exactly where to turn for work. Oh well, she could get a newspaper and read the ads; that was the best way.

Only somehow she wasn't interested in getting another position. It was the first time she had ever felt just this way about her work. There was something else she wanted, more than anything she had ever wanted before. She would not admit that it was because she was in love with Will Crandall that she didn't want to go on working; that to be married to him and have her own home meant more to her now than it ever had.

Mary could not help connecting her dismissal with what Mrs. Crandall had said to her husband. What was it on which she had insisted, she asked herself—and why had she insisted on it? Mrs. Crandall had never been very friendly to her; today she had been most unpleasant, certainly.

Well, Will might be able to tell her why she had been dismissed so suddenly. At least he was kind.

She received a note from him that evening. To cheer herself up after an afternoon's useless job-hunting she had put on her prettiest negligee and a string of beads that her cousin Lulu had given her for Christmas. The landlady came shuffling upstairs with the letter late in the evening.

"This came for you this afternoon, but I forgot to tell you," she announced. "Somebody writing you

She received a note from Will.

from the University Club—guess he must have money."

Mary lifted her eyebrows in disapproval. She hated the thought that the letter had been examined and speculated on, as it quite evidently had.

When the woman had reluctantly departed she opened the envelope.

"Dear Mary," she read, "I'm sorrier than I can possibly tell you over what has happened; I've just learned about it. Will you have luncheon with me tomorrow and talk things over with me, please? I feel that this is all my fault, and if you want to come back to Dad as his secretary I'm sure I can arrange it—though after what has happened I don't suppose you'd even think of doing so. I don't blame you. You must be very angry with the Crandall family—only please, if you are, don't include me in it." It was signed, "Yours—Will."

Mary was puzzled. To what did he refer? He evidently thought that she knew far more than she did about the reason why his father had dismissed her.

She wrote him a note at once, merely saying, "Of course I'll have luncheon with you tomorrow." She dressed and ran down to the corner post box to mail it, hoping that he would receive it the first thing in the morning.

At least she'd find out why she had been discharged. And perhaps—perhaps Will Crandall had much more than that to tell her!

Tomorrow—"I Love You."

KIWANIANS LISTEN TO SPEECH AT MEET

Well-handled scientific talk on "Electrons" was given by Harry E. Rice, former postmaster, and publisher of The Xenia Herald before the Xenia Kiwanis Club, Tuesday night at the Goody Shoppe.

The address reflected Mr. Rice's intensive reading and absorption of scientific data.

Quartette of girl students from Wilberforce University gave a group of vocal numbers during the meeting. They included the Misses Alberta Mayo, Alberta Mitchell, Katherine Parker, Eudie Rover, chaperoned by Mrs. A. Terry and accompanied on the piano by Professor Dennis.

Ten members of the local club attended the Springfield club meeting at Shawnee Hotel, Tuesday noon. The company included President J. T. Charters, Harry Rice, Dean Philip Nash, Yellow Springs; E. H. Heathman, C. A. Kelble, C. E. Arbogast, D. D. Jones, J. D. Adair, Dr. Edward A. Kern and T. H. Zell.

Special program had been arranged by the Springfield clubmen. Local Kiwanians are planning to attend various clubs in the district, numbering nine, in order to "get acquainted."

CHURCH PAGEANTRY SCHOOL IS FEATURE

GAMBIER, O., March 31.—A church pageantry school with the Rev. Morton C. Stone, Chicago, as director, is to be a feature of the Gambier summer conference here June 20 to July 10, at Kenyon College.

Lessons, discussions and demonstrations on the religious drama will be included in the course which so far as is known is the first pageantry course given in a church conference session.

Overwrought Nerves

YOU never heard of a red-blooded person—man or woman—becoming a nervous wreck! And you never will. You never saw anybody with healthy, rich, red blood, get wearied by the activities of daily life. Did you?

No! It's weak blood—lack of healthy, rich, red blood. That's the whole trouble with those whose nerves are overwrought. They lack the resisting powers—the stamina that healthy, red-blood-cells give that enable us to stand up under the strain of daily life.

S. S. S. is the salvation of these unhappy people. It is just the thing needed to strengthen the nerves, restore muscular power to the body, and increase the endurance of weak, failing, run-down women and men.

Don't keep on going down simply because your blood is starving for want of healthy, red-blood-cells. You can get back your nerve power with S. S. S. You can do it just as surely as thousands have done for the past century.

S. S. S. also clears the skin of pimples, boils, eczema—hollow cheeks fill out and firm flesh takes the place of flabby muscles. Why, you'll begin living all over again. Get S. S. S. today from any good druggist. And get the larger bottle. It's more economical.

School was a guest in the home of Mr. Silas Murdock over the week end.

Dr. Charles Galloway, wife and children of Chicago are guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Galloway this week.

The Young Ladies Missionary Society of the M. E. Church presented the operetta "The Feast of the Red Corn" at the Jamestown Opera House Friday evening.

Miss Mary Ervin, National and World Secretary of the Loyal Temperance Legion addressed the students, members of the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. and faculty of Cedarville College, Wednesday morning in the college chapel. Miss Ervin spent the past summer in various countries of Europe and made the subject of her address "Over There and Over Here."

The Young Married Women's Class of the U. P. Church held a supper in the church parlors Friday evening. Most of the class were present and enjoyed a social time.

Mr. Marlon Hughes of the Hagar Straw Board and Paper Co., was taken to the McClellan Hospital Thursday where he was operated upon for appendicitis. He is reported as getting along as well as could be expected.

The local business men of the town, gave a banquet, Friday evening at the high school building for the boys and girls basketball squads as well as the football team of Cedarville High School. Twenty boys and fifteen girls were honor guests of the occasion and about one hundred and twenty persons were served an excellent dinner. Twelve of the high school girls dressed in red and white, the high school colors served as waitresses. The tables were decorated with the school colors. Mr. W. W. Galloway acted as toastmaster during the absence of Prof. C. E. Oxley who was ill. County Superintendent H. C. Aultman presented the school trophy cup. The boys held first place throughout the season and were undefeated. The banquet and program was a fitting climax for one of the most successful seasons in athletics for Cedarville high school.

The second, in the series of three mens meetings, planned for this spring, was held Sabbath afternoon

At Last! Window Shades You can Wash

Just What Every Housekeeper Has Been Waiting For.

What housekeeper hasn't wished hundreds of times that she could take down her window shades and wash them? For years our customers have been asking, "Isn't there some kind of shades that can be cleaned and won't wrinkle or spot with the slightest touch of water?" At last we can answer "Yes."

Scrub With Soap And Water.

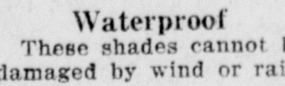

They will clean perfectly, will dry out smooth and flat and look like new. Let us prove it.

We Guarantee Them

We have put this "latest scientific discovery in window shades" to the most rigid tests and not only guarantee them to wash satisfactorily, but also not to crack or "pin-hole."

The Cost Is Little More Than The Ordinary Shade.

Come in and let us prove that in the end, these are the least expensive shades you can buy.

Waterproof
These shades cannot be damaged by wind or rain.

The Only Pure Milk Is Milk That Has Been PASTEURIZED

Raw milk, in spite of the most careful handling, is not free from germs. This has been fully demonstrated by the most careful scientific tests. Proper pasteurization of milk destroys any pathogenic organisms which might be present in raw milk and these bacteria cause tuberculosis, typhoid, scarlet fever and diphtheria. On the other hand pasteurization does not destroy the natural healthful organisms in the milk nor does it mar its fresh, sweet flavor.

Since milk is absolutely essential to the physical development of children and the health of adults it is imperative that safe milk be available at all times.

Frigidaire at the Cooking School --and in Your Home

Miss Neville will continue her popular cooking school classes on April 1st and 2nd. Every woman in Xenia should attend the remaining classes in order to see Frigidaire in actual operation.

Frigidaire Electric Refrigeration is being used in the cooking school just as you would use it in your kitchen. With Frigidaire foods are kept fresh for many days—conveniently sized ice cubes are frozen whenever you want them—various tasty salads and desserts are frozen in either single or double depth freezing trays.

Frigidaire requires practically no attention for it is automatic in operation. It saves kitchen work. It makes its owner independent of outside ice supply. It has set new standards of economy, convenience and cleanliness.

If you have a good ice-box, it can be converted into a Frigidaire Electric Refrigerator easily and at little expense. A small down payment will put any Frigidaire model into your home. The balance is paid in easy monthly installments on the GMAC payment plan.

Frigidaire is made and guaranteed by Delco-

THREE FINED AFTER ARREST FOLLOWING ACCIDENT ON PIKE

Arraigned in Probate Court Tuesday afternoon, Leonard Treiber, 30, was fined $300 and costs for possession of liquor, Calvin Daler, 29, $100 and costs for operating an auto while intoxicated, and Harley Thirkield, 35, $100 and costs, the maximum fine, for intoxication, by Judge S. C. Wright.

The trio pleaded guilty to the charges and each was committed to the County Jail until the fines and costs are paid. They live in Dayton.

They were arrested late Monday afternoon by Sheriff Morris Sharp and Deputy Sheriff John Baughn, after their automobile narrowly missed rolling down a steep embankment on the Dayton and Xenia pike west of Trebeins. Car was being driven toward Xenia.

The men were so far under the influence of liquor when arrested, they were unable to give their names until several hours after the near-accident, authorities say.

They were taken from their machine, a large closed model which was on the verge of upsetting after it had been ditched. Thirkield owned the auto. Part of a bottle of corn whiskey was also confiscated.

The HARDER you pull, the TIGHTER it gets!

THE SAME strain that loosens the wrap on average farm fence has no effect on Kokomo Pioneer Fence, other than to make the knot tighter! It's all in the way the knot is made. Note the illustration above, which will give you an idea of this exclusive feature. This is a semi-hinge knot. Better still, examine Kokomo Pioneer Fence stretched in your neighbor's field. Pull on it—put your foot on it—try to loosen the knot!

Then you'll understand why Kokomo Pioneer Fence will not get out of shape, why the stay wires will not slip on the line wires—why you are assured of GOOD fence for a long period of years.

The wire used in the manufacture of Pioneer Fence is 99 1/4% pure zinc coated. Why not try it and be convinced.
